

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
COLUMBUS, O., November 17, 1883.

To the Honorable CHARLES FOSTER, Governor of Ohio:

I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of this department for the year ending November 15, 1883, in obedience to the Constitution, and in compliance with the law.

CORPORATIONS.

There have been filed in this office, during the year just closed, eight hundred and seventy-six articles of incorporation.

The companies thus incorporated are classified, as follows: eleven banking companies, ninety-seven building and loan associations, ten cemetery associations, forty-four churches, eight co-operative associations, twenty colleges and literary societies, five construction companies, sixteen electric light companies, three fire and life insurance companies, eight gas-light companies, two hundred and fifty-three manufacturing companies, thirty-five mining companies, seventeen mutual aid companies, twenty-six printing and publishing companies, thirty-seven railroad companies, four street railroad companies, six telegraph and telephone companies, one hundred and forty-nine societies and benevolent associations, and one hundred and twenty-seven for various other purposes.

The total capital stock of these incorporated companies is stated at $163,629,549. Six companies also consolidated with a capital stock of $46,000,000, making the total amount of capital stock for the fiscal year $209,629,549. Seventy-five companies have increased their capital stock $124,639,050, and ten companies have decreased their capital stock $755,450. Three hundred and three companies have filed the required certificates that ten per cent. of their capital stock has been subscribed previous to organization, and certificates of miscellaneous changes, numbering forty-three, have been filed.

Accompanying this report will be found a complete list of the incorporations of the previous year, so tabulated and classified as to furnish an intelligent outline of the progress of incorporating companies in Ohio.

The duties devolving upon this office in connection with incorporated companies, have greatly enlarged during the past few years, and continue to demand much attention and clerical labor. An examination will show that a very large per cent. of the manufacturing and producing interests of the State is being merged into corporate bodies. The active industries embracing the active capital of the State are drifting into some one of the many classes of corporations. In a corresponding degree, private enterprises, personal responsibility, and individual effort, are being absorbed and disappearing from the sphere of active pursuits. The industries of Ohio, to-day, are guided and controlled, not by the citizen in his private capacity, but by the directors and stockholders of incorporated companies. As an evidence of this, it is but necessary to cite the fact that there are to-day, as nearly as can be estimated, 10,000 incorporated companies in Ohio, with a stated capital stock of $2,240,239,065. Since 1851, 9,357 companies have been incorporated, whose capital stock is given at $2,201,239,065. Of these, a considerable portion is not in active operation, and, in fact, in many cases the companies were never fully organized.

There are recognized evils, and no little inconvenience resulting from the ease, rapidity, and cheapness, with which, under the present laws, persons can become incorporated. In a few hours' time, and for a mere pittance, any number of persons, not less than five, can become a body corporate for any purpose, with two exceptions, for which individuals may lawfully associate themselves. The cost is trifling, inviting persons without any well developed purpose, or substantial basis, perhaps for mere speculative purposes, to prepare articles of incorporation, and have them filed and recorded. In many cases, they stop there; the stock is never subscribed, and the organization never perfected. As a consequence, the books of this office are cumbered with the records of incorporations that never really exist. The general index has become a confused mass of names—a long array of non-existing companies.

As one remedy for this evil, I would respectfully suggest that a reasonable and discriminating increase of the fees charged, would be beneficial. The pay for the work actually done is, in most cases, inadequate, while for a portion of the labor performed for these companies the law provides no remuneration.

In the case of companies formed for benevolent, religious, or literary purposes, or such companies as are not organized for profit or having no capital stock, it might not be advisable to increase the fees already provided. In other instances, an increased fee would, I feel confident, be not only just and fair, but prove of advantage to all concerned. It would discourage and diminish the forming of "straw" companies, and would thus be of real benefit to such companies as are organized in good faith and for actual work. It would prevent the books of this office from being lumbered up with the names and records of incipient corporations that never exist save in name. As all such fees in excess of $1,000 are paid into the State Treasury, such proposed increase would redound solely to the benefit of the State, and be the means of bringing much larger revenues into the treasury, making this office largely, if not entirely, self-sustaining. As much of the work done herein is for incorporated companies, there is no good reason why they should not meet the expenses thereof, shielded and favored as they are by the friendly laws of the State. The same result would be reached in this office, as will be observed in the Insurance Department, under which the fees are so adjusted as to bring a substantial revenue to the treasury.

In arranging the fee to be charged for companies with capital stock, and organized for profit, I would suggest grading it according to the amount of such capital stock. For instance :

For all companies having a capital stock of $5,000 or under	$5 00
For companies whose capital stock is $10,000, and over $5,000.....	10 00
“ “ 25,000, “ 10,000.....	15 00
“ “ 50,000, “ 25,000.....	25 00
“ “ 100,000, “ 50,000.....	35 00
“ “ 500,000, “ 100,000.....	50 00
“ “ 1,000,000, “ 500,000.....	75 00
“ “ over $1,000,000	100 00

These figures are merely suggestive. That there should be such a change in the law, as would provide for an increase in the fees charged for the reasons mentioned, as well as for other reasons that will occur, I have no doubt, and I respectfully submit the matter to the judgment and consideration of the General Assembly.

The index to the records of incorporations is imperfect, and not such an index as its importance demands. The many companies incorporated during the past thirty-two years, since June, 1851—the records thereof filling twenty-eight volumes—indexed without reference to vowels, make the search for names quite tedious, and renders it oftentimes difficult to trace the history and changes of corporations. The importance of making correct searches would suggest the preparing of a new and better systematized index. No appropriation is now asked for that purpose, as I believe, should the work be done, the expense thereof can be paid out of the usual appropriation for extra clerk hire made for this department.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

During the past year, fifteen villages have been incorporated, and additional territory has been added to eleven others.

REVISED STATUTES.

Under the authority given for the sale of copies of the Revised Statutes of Ohio there have been but 16 copies sold during the year, for which $80.00 were received, and that sum has been paid into the State Treasury. Being the first edition—of 1880—without notes or references to the amendments of the past three years, the demand for the same has almost ceased, and but few more copies, it is reasonable to suppose, could be sold. There are now on hand of this edition, 1,654 copies of the first volume, and 1,736 of the second volume. The value of these will decrease with each year.

The General Assembly, last winter, by Senate Joint Resolution No. 61, authorized the Secretary of State to exchange all the copies of the old edition on hand, not exceeding 1850, for an equal number of the new or third edition, as corrected and revised, containing notes and references to all amendments up to the present time, upon terms fixed by said resolution. Such exchange had become advisable, otherwise this department could have furnished to the incoming Legislature only the old or first edition.

The General Assembly, last year, authorized the purchase of 200 copies of the second edition, known as the Derby edition, but this supply is entirely exhausted. The two Houses, at the last session, adopted a resolution permitting the members to retain the copies in their possession, and this left barely enough of that edition to supply the Supreme Court Commission. Under the authority of the joint resolution referred to, I have contracted with H. W. Derby & Co. for such number of these new statutes as it may be deemed advisable to exchange, upon the terms and conditions mentioned in the joint resolution. The publishers have notified this department that they will furnish the work early in December, ready for binding, in ample time to supply copies to the General Assembly at the beginning of its session.

SUPREME COURT REPORTS.

The number of volume 38, of the Ohio State Reports, provided for by law, has been received, and copies of the same have been distributed in accordance with law, as follows: issued to county clerks, 88; to states and territories, 45; to Supreme Court, library and reporter, 15; to Supreme Court Commission, 11; to State officers, 9; leaving still on hand, 182 copies.

The statute undoubtedly contemplates, and it has been the custom to furnish one copy of each report, as soon as published, to the clerk of the court of each county, for the use of such court; but there is no specific provision to that effect. It would be better to have the distribution thereof more definitely provided for by statute.

In addition to the above, volumes of former reports have been distributed, viz.: to Clerk of Court of Delaware county, volumes 4 and 25, Ohio State Reports; to Clerk of Court of Washington county, volumes 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 10, and 13, Ohio Reports, and volumes 13 and 31, Ohio State Reports; to Clerk of Court of Fairfield county, volumes 6 and 34, Ohio State Reports; to Supreme Court Commission, four full sets of Ohio Reports, and Ohio State Reports; to Clerk of Court of Harrison county, volumes 1, 10, 12 and 13, Ohio Reports, and volumes 9, 11, 20, 25 and 35, Ohio State Reports; to Auditor of State, volume 37, Ohio State Reports.

OHIO STATE REPORTS.

A joint resolution was passed April 19, 1883, authorizing the Secretary of State to sell, on such terms as he may deem advisable, any odd volumes of the Ohio State Reports, now in his possession. As this department is expected, under the law, to furnish lost volumes to the courts of the State, thus constantly breaking sets, and believing it was intended to hold these reports, in order that the State might thus supply odd volumes through years to come, I have not deemed it advisable to dispose of any of said State Reports, as authorized by the resolution mentioned. The number of copies on hand of the several volumes widely varies, as will be seen by the following list:

The contract now existing under joint resolution of April 17, 1882, for the publication of the Ohio State Reports expires June 23, 1884. It will be the duty of the General Assembly to authorize the making of a new contract.

STATIONERY.

I am pleased to report that in this department there has been a marked saving during the past year. The amount of stationery disbursed during the previous year was over $13,000 in value, and judging by the amounts used in former years, it was apprehended that the sum appropriated for this purpose, for the present year, would not be sufficient. It is gratifying to state that the appropriation will prove ample, notwithstanding the additional demand upon that fund on account of the Supreme Court Commission, and from other causes. In purchasing supplies, they have always been bought where they could be obtained the cheapest; sealed estimates having been asked for, accompanying which samples of the goods were required to be submitted. In nearly all cases, supplies were purchased at a very material reduction in price.

In the distribution of stationery, and other necessary articles for the use of the General Assembly, I would suggest a plan that would prevent much criticism and inconvenience, and lead to a desirable saving to the State—that is, that a joint resolution be passed, providing that blank requisitions upon the sergeant-at-arms of the respective Houses be furnished members thereof, and these officers directed to supply the members with the necessary stationery upon their written requisitions. Under the present system there is no responsibility for these supplies after they reach the sergeants-at-arms; and, intending no criticisms here, members of former legislatures have held that these bodies did not receive all the stationery with which they were charged; thus injustice was often done the supplying officer, who had no means of verifying his accounts, while, at the same time, each member thereof being equally responsible, was subjected to charges of wastefulness and extravagance.

A plan, such as is suggested above, would be a safe-guard to all; would secure the delivery of stationery to members at less trouble, and would show exactly to whom the supplies go that are drawn by the sergeants-at-arms.

PAPER CONTRACTS.

Sealed proposals were invited, by advertisement in accordance with law, for the paper necessary for the use of the State, for the year beginning November 1. The bids were opened on the 3d day of September by the Commissioners of Public Printing, and the following persons being the lowest bidders, and having furnished approved bonds, were awarded the contracts for the several kinds of paper, as follows:

To the Ohio Paper Company, of Miamisburg—double super royal, at 7 74-100 cents per pound. To Chatfield & Woods, of Cincinnati—double flat cap, at 11 49-100 cents per pound; brochure cover, at 9 49-100 cents per pound; demy, at 13 49-100 cents per pound; post-office paper, at 9 74-100 cents per pound; medium, at 11 54-100 cents per pound; double medium, at 10 99-100 cents per pound. To Cleveland Paper Company—flat letter, at 11 44-100 cents per pound; flat cap, at 13 45-100 cents per pound. To Central Ohio Paper Company, of Columbus—imperial, at 16 95-100 cents per pound; linen folio, at 13 98-100 cents per pound. To Hann & Adair, card board, at 12 cents per pound. The figures at which the awards were made, are favorable to the State, being a reduction from the prices paid the previous year of from three to twenty-eight per cent.

FEES.

The total amount of fees received by this office during the past fiscal year was $2,609.05. The amount received by my predecessor from November 18, 1882, to January 8, 1883, as shown by the record of fees, was $342.90. From the latter date, when the present incumbent took charge, to the close of the fiscal year, there was collected $2,266.15. This was derived, principally, from furnishing certified copies of articles of incorporation. Of this amount, $1,000 has been retained as a portion of my salary, in accordance with the act of April 18, 1881, and the balance—$1,266.15—paid, quarterly, as collected, into the State Treasury.

The fees of this office might be largely and justly increased, if the suggestions made in the former part of this report should be carried out.

) STATISTICS.

Accompanying this report will be found the statistical information gathered in compliance with the statute from State and county officers, and from other reliable sources. It has been my endeavor to make this department an inviting feature; not aiming simply to "pad" it out, but sparing no pains to secure the utmost accuracy. The county officials have, almost without exception, been quite prompt in furnishing the information called for, and have cheerfully met all demands made upon them for statistical returns, for which promptness I feel impelled to express my thanks. The imperfect system of gathering statistics, the vagueness of returns, necessarily leads to some inaccuracies, which, as far as possible, have been avoided.

ELECTION TABLES.

The election statistics will, I feel confident, be found accurate and complete. In view of the Presidential contest of the coming year, when not only the public, but more especially political statisticians, will desire complete tables for reference, the vote by townships for the four preceding years is tabulated, being one year more than has heretofore been given in these reports. This is done in order to include the vote of 1880, which, with the three succeeding years, gives ample figures upon which to estimate. The Presidential vote by counties for 1872, 1876, and 1880 is also, for similar reasons, given in this department.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

From an appropriation of $1,500, made by the Legislature in 1881, twelve copies of Standard Weights and Measures were procured by my predecessor, at a cost of $115 per copy. The statute authorizes their sale to cities, etc., at cost. But one copy of these has been sold—none during the present year—and the other eleven are on hand to supply any demand. There have been but few inquiries for the same.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The General Assembly, last winter, submitted three proposed amendments to the Constitution of Ohio, which were voted upon at the recent elections; complete tables giving the vote upon each of these amendments will be found among the election statistics presented.

The amendments were published in newspapers in each county six months, as provided by the Constitution. The Secretary of State, as required by the act of April 5, 1883, ordered these proposed amendments published in one paper of each party in the several counties, and in the German press. The cost of the judicial amendment, as measured by the Supervisor of Printing, at sixty per cent. of legal rates, is $131.88 for each paper that published the same the full time; and for the proposed amendment to schedule 18, the cost for each paper is $72.80, making the cost of the two, $204.68 for each journal. The total cost thereof for all the papers, in English and German, cannot be estimated with exactness at present, but will approximate $46,000. For the payment of this work no provision was made at the last session, a bill which passed the Senate, making the necessary appropriation, having failed to pass the House. It would seem that a Legislature submitting an amendment should provide for the prompt payment of the cost of publication, so that publishers would not be required to wait for months, as in this instance, after the work was completed. Since the election, when the publication ceased, I have sent out blank vouchers to publishers. These have been filled out and approved by the county commissioners, as the law directs, and the same are now on file in this office awaiting the action of the General Assembly. I respectfully call attention to this matter, and suggest that an appropriation for the payment of these claims should be made at an early day.

INSPECTION OF GAS METERS, ETC.

The Secretary of State is made the custodian of all the apparatus and property belonging to the State for the inspection of illuminating gas and gas-meters, and the testing of the registration of meter provers. The apparatus for this purpose, in charge of this department, was found broken and useless. To enable the Secretary to perform the duties required by the statute it will be necessary to purchase new apparatus or repair the old. Section 3555, of the Revised Statutes, provides that such apparatus shall be provided at the expense of the gas companies of the State, but no provision is made as to how such expense shall be assessed. The necessary apparatus should either be provided or the duties involved should be otherwise provided for. There has, however, been but one application to have meter provers tested and sealed during the year.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The original manuscript journals and records, placed in charge of this office, are not in as good condition as they should be, and provision should be made for their better care and preservation. Many of these volumes are stored away in the stationery room, in dark corners, inconvenient for reference, and unprotected from dust or exposure. A room suitable for the purpose should be provided for them.

The book or packing-room in the basement is crowded with old books and documents, many of which are out of date, and of little or no value. These might be sold as old paper, especially where there is a large number of the same volume on hand, and thus make room for later reports and documents that annually accumulate.

A roster of State officials, and those connected with the various departments and State institutions, with a complete list of county officers and justices of the peace, will be found accompanying this report; also, the usual educational, judicial, social, and vital statistics, gathered in accordance with law. With this is presented, also, statistical matter obtained from officials of other States, the amount of State debts, of the general tax duplicate, of State taxes, etc., with other information that will prove of value to legislators and political economists.

For the prompt and efficient manner in which the work of this department has been performed by the chief clerk and his assistants during the year, it is proper that I should express my acknowledgments, assured of the fact that they have been faithful to duty and to the public interests.

I am pleased to state that there will be no deficiency in any of the funds over which this department has control. I am, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAS. W. NEWMAN,
Secretary of State.

STATISTICAL REPORT

OF THE

SECRETARY OF STATE,

TO THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF OHIO,

FOR THE YEAR 1883.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
COLUMBUS, OHIO, December 1, 1883.

To the General Assembly of Ohio :

I have the honor to submit herewith my first annual report, being for the year ending November 15, 1883, according to Section 139 Revised Statutes, requiring the Secretary of State to prepare, annually, "from the official reports, and from whatever other reliable sources he may have access to, as full, accurate, and intelligible tables of the statistics of Ohio as may be in his power, and report the result of his labors to the General Assembly at its next meeting."

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAS. W. NEWMAN,
Secretary of State.

JOINT RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE
FOUR, AND TO SECTION EIGHTEEN OF THE SCHEDULE, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

[House Joint Resolution No. 73.]

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article four of the constitution of the state.

SECTION 1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio (three-fifths of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That a proposition to amend the constitution of the state of Ohio be, and the same is hereby submitted to the electors of the state at the election to be held on the second Tuesday of October, A.D. 1883, as follows:

That sections one, two and six of article four, entitled "judicial," be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 1. The judicial power of the state is vested in a supreme court, circuit courts, courts of common pleas, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts inferior to the supreme court, as the general assembly may from time to time establish.

Section 2. The supreme court shall, until otherwise provide [provided] by law, consist of five judges, a majority of whom competent to sit shall be necessary to form a quorum or to pronounce a decision, except as hereinafter provided. It shall have original jurisdiction in quo warranto, mandamus, habeas corpus and procedendo, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law. It shall hold at least one term in each year at the seat of government, and such other terms, there or elsewhere, as may be provided by law. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, for such term, not less than five years, as the general assembly may prescribe, and they shall be elected and their official term shall begin at such time as may be fixed by law. In case the general assembly shall increase the number of such judges, the first term of each of such additional judges shall be such, that in each year after their first election, an equal number of judges of the supreme court shall be elected, except in elections to fill vacancies; and whenever the number of such judges shall be increased, the general assembly may authorize such court to organize divisions thereof, not exceeding three, each division to consist of an equal number of judges; for the adjudication of cases, a majority of each division shall constitute a quorum, and such an assignment of the cases to each division may be made as such court may deem expedient, but whenever all the judges of either division hearing a case shall not concur as to the judgment to be rendered therein, or whenever a case shall involve the constitutionality of an act of the general assembly or of an act of congress, it shall be reserved to the whole court for adjudication. The judges of the supreme court in office when this amendment takes effect, shall continue to hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

Section 6. The circuit court shall have like original jurisdiction with the supreme court, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law. Such courts shall be composed of such number of judges as may be provided by law, and shall be held in each county, at least once in each year. The number of circuits, and the boundaries thereof, shall be prescribed by law. Such judges shall be elected in each circuit by the electors thereof, and at such time and for such term as may be prescribed by law, and the same number shall be elected in each circuit. Each judge shall be competent to exercise his judicial powers in any circuit. The general assembly may change, from time to time, the number of boundaries of the circuits. The circuit courts shall be the successors of the district courts, and all cases, judgments, records, and proceedings pending in said district courts, in the several counties of any district, shall be transferred to the circuit courts in the several counties, and be proceeded in as though said district courts had not been abolished, and the district courts shall continue in existence until the election and qualification of the judges of the circuit courts.

And be it further resolved, That at said election, the voters desiring to vote in favor of said amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Judicial constitutional amendment—Yes;" and the voters who do not favor the adoption of said amendment, may place on their ballots the words, "Judicial constitutional amendment—No;" and if a majority of all the votes passed [cast] at said election shall be in favor of said amendment, then said sections one, two and six herein set forth, shall be and constitute the sections so amended in said judicial article (four) of the constitution of the state of Ohio, and said original sections one, two and six, and also sections five and eleven of said article shall be repealed and annulled.

I. N. HATHAWAY,

Speaker pro tem. of the House of Representatives.

R. G. RICHARDS,

President of the Senate.

Adopted March 30, 1883.

[Senate Joint Resolution No. 50.]

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to the constitution.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That, at the general election to be held on the second Tuesday of October, 1883, there shall be submitted to the electors for their approval or rejection two propositions to amend the constitution of the state, as follows:

FIRST PROPOSITION.

"The additional section" in and with section eighteen of the schedule shall be repealed, and there shall be substituted for it the following:

"The general assembly shall regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors so as to provide against evils resulting therefrom; and its power to levy taxes or assessments thereon is not limited by any provision of this constitution."

SECOND PROPOSITION.

"The additional section" in and with section eighteen of the schedule shall be repealed, and there shall be substituted for it the following:

"The manufacture of and the traffic in intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage are forever prohibited; and the general assembly shall provide by law for the enforcement of this provision."

The electors voting in favor of the said first proposition shall have on their ballots the words, "Regulation and taxation of the liquor traffic—Yes;" and those voting in favor of the said second proposition shall have on their ballots the words, "Prohibition of intoxicating liquors—Yes."

If either of the said two propositions be thus approved by a majority of the electors voting at the said election, then the amendment therein proposed shall constitute a separate section of article fifteen of the constitution.

O. J. HODGE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

R. G. RICHARDS,

President of the Senate.

Adopted April 4, 1883.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR, DECLARING THE ADOPTION OF AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE
FOUR OF THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

THE STATE OF OHIO, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR,

WHEREAS, The following Joint Resolution was adopted by the general assembly
March 30, 1883:

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article four of the constitution of the state.

SECTION 1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio (three-fifths of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That a proposition to amend the constitution of the state of Ohio be and the same is hereby submitted to the electors of the state at the election to be held on the second Tuesday of October, A.D. 1883, as follows:

That sections one, two, and six of article four, entitled judicial, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 1. The judicial power of the state is vested in a supreme court, circuit courts, courts of common pleas, courts of probate, justices of the peace, and such other courts, inferior to the supreme court, as the general assembly may from time to time establish.

Sec. 2. The supreme court shall, until otherwise provide [provided] by law, consist of five judges, a majority of whom competent to sit shall be necessary to form a quorum or to pronounce a decision, except as hereinafter provided. It shall have original jurisdiction in quo warranto, mandamus, habeas corpus, and procedendo, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law. It shall hold at least one term in each year at the seat of government, and such other terms, there or elsewhere, as may be provided by law. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, for such term, not less than five years, as the general assembly may prescribe, and they shall be elected, and their official term shall begin at such time as may be fixed by law. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, for such term, not less than five years, as the general assembly may prescribe, and they shall be elected, and their official term shall begin at such time as may be fixed by law. In case the general assembly shall increase the number of such judges, the first term of each of such additional judges shall be such, that in each year after their first election, an equal number of judges of the supreme court shall be elected, except in elections to fill vacancies; and whenever the number of such judges shall be increased, the general assembly may authorize such court to organize divisions thereof, not exceeding three, each division to consist of an equal number of judges; for the adjudication of cases, a majority of each division shall constitute a quorum, and such an assignment of the cases to each division may be made as such court may deem expedient; but whenever all the judges of either division hearing a case shall not concur as to the judgment to be rendered therein, or whenever a case shall involve the constitutionality of an act of the general assembly or of an act of congress, it shall be reserved to the whole court for adjudication. The judges of the supreme court in office when this amendment takes effect shall continue to hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 6. The circuit court shall have like original jurisdiction with the supreme court, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law. Such courts shall be composed of such number of judges as may be provided by law, and shall be held in each county, at least once in each year. The number of circuits, and the boundaries thereof, shall be prescribed by law. Such judges shall be elected in each circuit by the electors thereof, and at such time and for such term as may be prescribed by law, and the same number shall be elected in each circuit. Each judge shall be competent to exercise his judicial powers in any circuit. The General Assembly may change, from time to time, the number of [or] boundaries of the circuits. The circuit courts shall be the successors of the district courts, and all cases, judgments, records, and proceedings pending in said district courts, in the several counties of any district, shall be transferred to the circuit courts in the several counties, and be proceeded in as though said district courts had not been abolished; and the district courts shall continue in existence until the election and qualification of the judges of the circuit courts.

And be it further resolved, That at said election the voters desiring to vote in favor of said amendment shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Judicial Constitutional Amendment—Yes;" and the voters who do not favor the adoption of said amendment may place on their ballots the words, "Judicial Constitutional Amendment—No;" and if a majority of all the votes passed [cast] at said election shall be in favor of said amendment, then said sections one, two, and six, herein set forth, shall be and constitute the sections so amended in said judicial article (four) of the constitution of the State of Ohio, and said original sections one, two, and six, and also sections five and eleven of said article, shall be repealed and annulled; and,

WHEREAS, said proposed amendment was duly published, as required by the constitution, and by the statute providing therefor; and,

WHEREAS, within twenty days after said election, to wit: on the 26th day of October, 1883, the Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney-General, at the office of the Secretary of State, opened the returns made to the Secretary of State in pursuance of an act passed April 5, 1883, and counted the votes certified therein to have been cast at said election, and the votes cast for said proposed amendment; and,

WHEREAS, it was ascertained by said count, that the whole number of votes cast at said election is seven hundred and twenty-one thousand three hundred and ten (721,310), and the whole number of votes cast for said proposed amendment is four hundred thousand nine hundred and nineteen (400,919);

Now, therefore, I, Charles Foster, Governor of the State of Ohio, do hereby publish and proclaim to the people of the State, that the said proposed amendment, having received the approval of a majority of all the electors voting at the said election, was, therefore, adopted, and has become a part of the Constitution of the State; and that said original sections one, two, and six, and also sections five and eleven, of said Judicial Article, are thereby repealed and annulled.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name, and caused the Great Seal of the State of Ohio to be affixed, at the city of Columbus, the 27th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty three, and in the one hundred and eighth year of the Independence of the United States of America.

{ THE GREAT SEAL
OF THE
STATE OF OHIO. }

CHARLES FOSTER.

There were re-valuations of the real property of the State for the years 1836, 1855, 1861, 1867, 1864, 1861, 1871, and 1881.

NOTE.—Prior to 1836 real estate was only brought upon the duplicate for taxation for State purposes. Funds for county purposes were derived from a poll tax, and a tax upon horses, mules, and cattle, to which was added, by legislative appropriation, a percentage from one-fifth to one-half, varying with the several years, from the taxes levied upon real estate.

Under the act of February 8, 1825, which took effect March 1, 1826, all taxable property was placed upon the grand duplicate, viz., lands and town lots, including buildings, horses, cattle, pleasure carriages over the value of one hundred dollars, and merchants' and brokers' capital, to which was added, "money loaned at interest," and "all grist, oil, and saw mills; all manufactories of iron, glass, paper, clocks, and nails; all distilleries, breweries, and tanneries; all iron, brass, and copper foundries," under the act of March 14, 1831.

Under the act of March 2, 1846, a new system of taxation was inaugurated, which, with various slight modifications, is now in force.

Notes.—The State Board of Equalization of Bank Shares adopted the following rules for arriving at the valuation of National Banks:

1. Take as a basis amount of capital, surplus, and undivided profit, as representing the actual value of the shares.
2. Take the assessed value of the shares as fixed by the County Auditors, exclusive of real estate, and ascertain what per cent. it bears to the sum of the capital, surplus, and undivided profits. It was found that the value, as fixed by County Auditors, was 68 per cent. of actual value.
3. For the purpose of equalizing, as nearly as possible, the valuations, and allowing a reasonable margin for the judgment of the Auditors, the Board decided it would determine the value of the shares as follows:
In all cases where the per cent. of assessed value to actual value did not exceed 75 per cent., or fall below 65 per cent., it should remain as returned by County Auditors. In all cases where such value exceeded 75 per cent., it should be reduced to 75 per cent., but a reduction of more than 10 per cent. should not be made except in special cases of apparently excessive valuation. In all cases where such value fell below 65 per cent., it should be increased to 65 per cent., but an increase of more than 10 per cent. should not be made except in special cases where the value fixed by the Auditor was deemed excessively low.
4. To the value thus found was to be added the assessed value of real estate.

6. e was used in fixing valuations of State Banks as National Banks, except that 55 and 65 per cent. were taken as a basis instead of 65 and 75.

RAILROAD STATISTICS OF OHIO.

STANDARD TIME.

de, written for this report by T. C. Mendenhall, Ph.D., in the Ohio State University, Columbus, will be found of is remarkable for the progress that has been made towards "unification of mankind." Important discoveries made by men rapidly utilized by inventors until now one may travel in about the same time as would have been required a hundred years from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Ocean and with effort, or he may put himself in communication with the remotest point quicker than he could formerly send a message to a neighbor-er, practically, of nations once widely separated, has resulted in the recognition of the great inconvenience arising from many systems of measurement, accompanied by corresponding variations in nomenclature. This has been that numerous plans have been suggested and considered, and many have been made in the direction of the unification and simplification of systems, especially in the case of monetary systems and systems of weights and measures. The measurement of time has long been a necessity to the human race. As the centuries have passed it has frequently been found necessary to make measurement more accurate and precise. In the measurement of any magnitude it is necessary to select a unit and, in general, that unit must be something of the same nature as the magnitude to be measured. It is also desirable, wherever possible, that the unit should be natural, that is, one already recognizable in the nature of things. The most obvious natural unit of time is called a day, a name which is applied, however, to several periods of time, differing slightly among themselves. The day, as indicated by the rising of the sun, was doubtless the first and for ages the only unit of time. It was used in the early days of Rome and for nearly five hundred years after its introduction divisions of the day were known except sunrise, sunset, and mid-day.

The day as established by the meridian passage of the sun has long been known to be of variable length, and as it is of prime importance that a unit should be invariant it has been almost universally rejected, and the mean solar day accepted in its place. This period is not marked precisely by any astronomical phenomenon, but is said to be derived from the meridian passage of an imaginary, mean sun.
Although the day has been universally accepted as the primary unit of time, there has been no general agreement as to the time of its beginning and ending, or as to the number of parts into which it should be divided. The ancient Babylonians, Persians, and Jews, and, in fact, almost all eastern nations began the day at sunrise, and the modern Greeks chose the same starting point. Italians, Bohemians, and some others have selected sunset as the beginning of the day, but most European nations and in recent times nearly all nations begin the civil day at midnight, as a change of name at that hour, for obvious reasons, gives rise to the least inconvenience. Astronomers, however, find it better for their particular purposes to begin the day at noon.

The Chaldeans, Syrians, Persians, Indians, Jews, and Romans divided the day and night into four parts. The Greeks divided the day into twelve parts, imitating, it is said, the Babylonians in this respect, and this custom was afterward adopted by the Romans. The Chinese and Japanese divide the day into twelve hours, each being equal to two of those now almost universally used. Within a few years, however, the ordinary division has come into use extensively among the people of both of these countries, and, especially among the Japanese, where it has almost entirely superseded the ancient method. The division of the day into twenty-four parts seems to have prevailed in many localities from the earliest ages, and has now come to be well nigh universal. This system was adopted at an early date by most European nations, following the Egyptians both in the number of hours and in the reckoning of twelve hours from midnight to noon and twelve from noon to midnight. The Italians and some other nations have reckoned continuously up to twenty-four.

The advantages of this continuous count of the hours of the day, from one to twenty-four, are numerous, and quite recently it has been brought into notice through its adoption by several transportation companies in the printing of their time tables. Indeed, there does not seem to be any good reason why it should not eventually come into general use. It has been confounded, however, by many people with the new system of standard time, of which it does not necessarily form a part.

As standard time has been strongly objected to by some people and criticised, not always understandingly by many, it is, perhaps, worth while to discuss briefly its nature and origin.

To begin with what is generally understood, we may suppose, as far as all time-keeping is concerned, that the imaginary sun already referred to, makes a revolution about the earth once in twenty-four hours. It is noon at all points on the meridian upon which this sun is, and it is noon nowhere else. As this meridian moves around the earth in twenty-four hours, noon may be conceived as a line whose direction is North and South, and whose motion is from East to West, at the rate of fifteen degrees in one hour of time. The actual linear velocity of this movement will depend, of course, on the latitude of the place. It would not differ very greatly over the State of Ohio, and for the latitude of Columbus it is approximately 1,160 feet per second. It happens that this is very nearly the velocity of sound through the air on a warm summer's day, so that for the sake of illustration, it may be said that if a gun were to be fired at the precise instant of mean noon for a certain point in Columbus, persons living on a line extending West from that point would hear the sound exactly at noon, although, supposing the sound to continue to be audible, that time might be an hour or more after the firing of the gun. In other words, "noon" and the sound would travel very closely together.

It is easy to see that the local time of no two places can agree exactly unless one is precisely North of the other. This renders the use of absolute "local" time practically impossible, especially since the leading lines of transportation are East and West, rather than North and South. It has long been customary, therefore, for communities to tacitly agree to accept the time of some particular point, the extent of the area controlled by that point depending on its position and other circumstances. Sometimes this area was considerable, as in the case of the meridian of Columbus, which, until recently, practically controlled the time of the whole State of Ohio. The adoption of some standard of time was a necessity to every transportation company, and as the selection of a meridian was an arbitrary matter, generally being controlled by the convenience of each company, great numbers of systems came into use, producing the direst confusion. At one time as many as one hundred different systems of time-keeping were known to exist in the United States alone.

The introduction of Standard Time is simply an attempt to destroy this confusion as far as possible and to establish an orderly, simple, and exact system in its place. The system is based, to begin with, on the adoption of the meridian passing through Greenwich as the prime meridian. Nearly every civilized nation has adopted the meridian passing through its own capital as its prime meridian in all matters pertaining to longitude, public surveys, etc., but the absurdity of this has long been recognized by all who have especially to do with this sort of work. In adopting the meridian of Greenwich for the beginning of standard time, its originators have only anticipated a result which is sure to be reached very soon by international conference. In fact, the U. S. Government has already invited delegates to such a conference, and a meeting is to take place in the near future.

Starting with the meridian of Greenwich, or, indeed, any other, it is easy to see that the whole surface of the earth may be divided by meridians fifteen degrees apart, over one of which "noon" would pass at intervals of one hour. When it is noon at Greenwich, clocks on these meridians East would indicate one, two, three, etc., hours later and those West would be some whole number of hours earlier; and whatever the indication of the Greenwich clock, time-pieces keeping the local time of these meridians would always differ from it and from each other by some whole number of hours.

Now, what is proposed in the adoption of Standard Time, is that all clocks and watches shall be set to the time of one or the other of these meridians, so that any two time-pieces when compared would be found to agree or to differ by some whole number of hours. In this way a set of watches and clocks used within a certain area will differ from the Greenwich clock by five hours; those over the area adjoining on the West side differ from it by six hours, and so on.

Theoretically, the boundaries of these areas should be determined by meridian lines bisecting the spaces included between those determining the time, thus making the width of the time belt fifteen degrees at any point; practically, however, it is found to be much more convenient to deviate from this principle, for the same reason that it is often better to determine political boundaries by means of natural features of the country, rather than by parallels and meridians.

The leading lines of transportation are broken up into divisions, over which it is generally desirable to use the time of one meridian, and, in fact, this has long been the custom, the adoption of Standard Time only serving to enable all lines covering a certain area to agree on what that meridian shall be, and, in addition, to secure the important concession that it shall bear an exact and simple relation to those in use among all others.

The desirableness of some reform in time-keeping, similar to that indicated above, has been recognized for many years. The demand for it became pressing as this country and other countries became covered with lines of railways, upon which both safety and economy demanded a degree of accuracy in time-keeping hitherto unknown in ordinary affairs. Aggressive action in the way of securing its adoption has been taken by various societies and individuals during the past four or five years. The first suggestion of the scheme outlined above and now in use was made by Mr. Cleveland Abbe, of the U. S. Weather Service, in a communication to the American Meteorological Society, although it was independently suggested at about the same time by Sanford Fleming, Esq., Chancellor of the Queen's University, at Toronto. Active interest in the question was shown by the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Meteorological Society, the Canadian Institute, etc., and the plan was favorably considered by the Association for the Reform and Codification of the Laws of Nations, at its meeting at Cologne, Prussia, in August, 1881, and by the International Geographical Congress, at its meeting in the same year at Venice, Italy. The plan received the hearty approval of all eminent astronomers and scientific men generally and its importance was recognized by all who gave it attention. From the report upon the subject, made by the Special Committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the following quotation is taken:

"To apprehend that the question is one of importance it is only necessary to glance at the existing condition of our time service. Mistakes in the hour of the day are frequent. In every State—in every city or town—discrepancies are met which produce great aggregate inconvenience. Thousands of engagements are broken. Innumerable disappointments and losses result. In some cases loss of life is caused, and generally, in consequence of defects in our time system, difficulties more or less serious constantly are experienced."

"The Committee anticipate difficulty in effecting a desirable reform, as no change in a matter of this kind can be effected without interfering, in a greater or less degree, with long established usages and fixed habits of thought."

"The Committee feels assured that the general intelligence of the community will cordially sympathize with an earnest movement to bring about such modifications in our time system as may be practicable and beneficial."

The American Meteorological Society and the Canadian Institute both adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That uniformity of time throughout the United States and Canada is demanded by the progress of events, and that a general system by which time may be reckoned in a uniform and accurate manner by the people of all nations throughout the globe is of the highest importance.

The result of this agitation was that the leading railway managers of the country came to recognize the advantages of the reform, and the scheme outlined above was adopted, and went into operation on November 18, 1883, having been accepted, with hardly an exception, by all railway lines in the United States and Canada. Five standard meridians were adopted, their distance from the Greenwich meridian, in degrees, being sixty, seventy-five, ninety, one hundred and five, and one hundred and twenty, and in hours, four, five, six, seven, and eight, respectively. The time corresponding to the most easterly of these is designated as "Intercolonial time;" that of the next, "Eastern time;" that of the ninetieth meridian, "Central time;" the time of the one hundred and fifth meridian is called "Mountain time," and that of the one hundred and twentieth, "Pacific time." Eastern time is very nearly the local time of Philadelphia, and it is the controlling time for the Eastern,

New England, and Atlantic States. Central time, which is the time for the Mississippi Valley, is very nearly the local time of New Orleans, and Mountain time agrees closely with the local time of Denver.

The State of Ohio is included in the area which is controlled by Central time, and by it all railroads within the State are now run. Previous to this change, nearly all railroads in Ohio used Columbus time, which is approximately twenty-eight minutes faster than Central time. Below will be found a table showing the approximate difference (correct within one minute) between Central time and the local time of all cities, towns, and villages of the first class in the State.

The State of Ohio is included within four and a half degrees of longitude, and as one degree corresponds to four minutes of time, the extreme difference of local time in the State will not exceed eighteen minutes. As long as the standard meridian passed through or near the Capital, the extreme difference between the time of this meridian and local time was not greater than eight or nine minutes, and no difficulty was experienced in the use of Columbus time throughout the State. Under the new system, however, the difference will be nowhere less than twenty minutes and will be as great as thirty-six or thirty-seven minutes in the extreme eastern part of the State. From this it will be seen that Ohio is unfortunately situated in respect to central time, being on its extreme eastern limit, or nearly so, and requiring a correction of local time amounting, in "round numbers," to half an hour. This very fact, however, would seem to offer a way out of the difficulty, which, if it were adopted by the people generally, would make the transition extremely easy. To throw events, the time for which seems to be fixed by social custom, tradition, etc., a half an hour later in the day, would be in many cases extremely inconvenient, especially in the matter of continuing labor in manufacturing establishments and the like, where it would involve the expense of artificial illumination during an extra half hour, through a portion of the year.

But if custom and tradition as to the name of the hour can be disregarded, and "fixed events" be put a half hour earlier by central time, then the time of their actual happening will be the same as now, except that over the greater portion of the State something will be gained by their being really a little earlier in the day. Such a change as this would undoubtedly be accompanied by a little friction at first, and it could not be at once accomplished without some patience and persistence on the part of all concerned. There can be no doubt but that the advantages to be secured by the use of central time far outweigh the temporary inconvenience incident to its adoption. It appears quite certain that, willing or unwilling, we shall sooner or later be driven to accept it, for a reform as important and as comprehensive as is this can not be arrested by merely local opposition, arising from personal prejudice. The people of Ohio have not been slow in the advocacy or adoption of reformatory measures, and as this is a movement through the success of which all will be benefited, it is to be hoped that thoughtful men will exert themselves whenever opportunity offers to secure the adoption of the new system by the people generally. Until this is accomplished we are likely to have a confusion of "times" which cannot fail to give rise to serious inconvenience and to be sometimes productive of results which are disastrous, rather than uncomfortable; for we have lost the unifying influence of the old Columbus standard and it must now be central time or an indefinite and almost infinite variety.

(a) Includes motive power. (b) Only six months of operating expenses were classified. (c) Included in construction account. (d) Maintenance of locomotives. (e) Maintenance of rolling stock. (f) Transportation expenses. (g) Traffic expenses. (h) This amount is less than the sum of the amount in the other columns; the difference is due to the fact that from January 1st, 1882, to October 31st, 1882, $1,092,552.69 were charged to operating expenses, which properly belonged to improvement account. (i) Not classified. (j) Not reported.

July 1, 1862, is included in the 4 per cent. from 1862 to 1883, inclusive, with the exception of the amount which the public debt reached its highest point. This loan bore interest from 4 per cent. to 6 per cent., re-days, but being constantly changing, it has been considered more equitable to include the whole amount on an average for the year.

NOTE 1.—The statement of population for 1860, 1870, and 1880 is by enumeration, and for other years from estimates prepared by Prof. E. B. Elliott, of Treasury Department.

NOTE 2.—The figures for July 1, 1879, were made up assuming pending funding operations to have been completed.

UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE.

The following statements and tables are taken from the report of Hon. Walter Evans, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, for the year ended June 30, 1883:

CONSOLIDATION OF COLLECTION DISTRICTS.

Before the order of June 25, 1883, [an order from the President, directing the consolidation of certain of the collection districts,] was issued, there were one hundred and twenty-six collectors and collection districts. When the work of consolidation is completed in the Wisconsin district, [one collector not having entered upon his duties under the consolidation,] there will be only eighty-three collectors and collection districts, a reduction of forty-three.

The estimated annual saving to the Government by the reduction is $125,000.

OHIO DISTRICTS CONSOLIDATED.

First District.—Clark B. Montgomery, Collector, Cincinnati.—The 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 7th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 13th and 17th wards of the City of Cincinnati; and the townships of Anderson, Columbia, Spencer, Sycamore and Symmes; the corporation of Reading, and the northeast and southeast precincts of Mill Creek township.

(Old 2d District.) The 6th, 8th, 12th, 14th, 15th, and the 16th wards of the city of Cincinnati; and the townships of Colerain, Crosby, Delhi, Greene, Harrison, Miami, Springfield, Storrs and Whitewater; the corporations of Clifton, Glendale and Harrison, and the Corryville, Lick Run and western precincts of Mill Creek township.

Sixth District.—George P. Dunham, Collector, Dayton.—(Old 6th District.) The counties of Brown, Clermont, Clinton, Fayette and Highland.

(Old 3d District.) The counties of Butler, Montgomery, Preble and Warren.

(Third District abolished August 1, 1883.)

Tenth District.—John F. Kumler, Collector, Toledo.—(Old 10th District.) The counties of Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Lucas, Paulding, Putnam, Williams and Wood.

(Old 9th District.) The counties of Crawford, Erie, Huron, Ottawa, Sandusky and Seneca.

(Old 4th District.) The counties of Champaign, Darke, Logan, Miami and Shelby.

(Old 5th District.) The counties of Allen, Auglaize, Hancock, Hardin, Mercer, Van Wert and Wyandot.

(Fourth District abolished August 1, 1883.)

Eleventh District.—Marcus Boggs, Collector, Chillicothe.—(Old 11th District.) The counties of Adams, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Scioto and Vinton.

REVIEW OF THE TOBACCO TAX.

The act of March 3, 1883, reduced the rates of tax on all manufactured tobacco, snuff and cigars, one-half, and on cigarettes, weighing not more than three pounds per thousand, to two-sevenths of the previous rate. The same act reduced all special taxes imposed upon manufacturers of and dealers in tobacco under various forms, fully fifty per cent. These rates became operative on and after May 1, 1883, so that nearly all the special taxes for the last fiscal year were collected at the reduced rates. During the last two months of the fiscal year, the taxes on tobacco, snuff and cigars were collected at the reduced rates. All changes and prospective changes in the tax laws disturb the normal condition of trade. It is therefore impossible to tell, until a law has been in operation for a sufficient length of time to counteract the influence of changes which materially affect prices and stimulate or retard business operations, what will be its effect on the revenues.

Supposing the tobacco, snuff, cigars, and cigarettes had all been taxed at the present rates, the aggregate receipts would have been as follows:

|---|-----------------|
| 170,361,558 pounds of tobacco and snuff at 8 cents per pound..... | $13,628,924 64 |
| 3,227,888,992 cigars at $3 per thousand..... | 9,683,666 97 |
| 119,150 cigarettes at $3 per thousand..... | 357 45 |
| 639,902,503 cigarettes at 50 cents per thousand..... | 319,951 25 |
| <hr/> | |
| Total receipts therefrom would have been | $23,632,900 31 |
| Actual receipts therefrom were..... | 40,697,615 23 |
| Difference would be | $17,064,714 92 |

At the old rates the aggregate receipts on the same quantity of tobacco and snuff, and numbers of cigars and cigarettes, would have been $47,745,727.50, and the difference would have been $24,112,827.19 more than at the present rates of tax thereon.

The actual receipts from special taxes were $1,405,758.56. Had the old rates continued the same number of persons employed in the different kinds of business would have paid special taxes aggregating $2,525,999.73, or $1,120,241.17 more than were paid.

These figures show that the reduction of tax rates made by the act of March 3, 1883, will, on the basis of last year's business, cause a reduction of revenue from tobacco during the next fiscal year of at least twenty-five million dollars.

PENSION STATISTICS.

The following statements and tables are from the Annual Report of Hon. W. W. Dudley, Commissioner of Pensions, for the year ending June 30, 1883:

NUMBER OF PENSIONERS.

There were at the close of the year, June 30, 1883, 303,658 pensioners, classified as follows: 198,643 army invalids; 74,373 army widows, minor children, and dependent relatives; 2,468 navy invalids; 1,907 navy widows, minor children, and dependent relatives; 4,831 survivors of the war of 1812, and 21,336 widows of those who served in that war.

There were added to the roll during the year the names of 38,162 new pensioners, and the names of 706 whose pensions had been previously dropped were restored to the roll, making an aggregate of 38,958 pensions added during the year, being an excess over the number added to the roll the preceding year, of 10,645. During the year the names of 20,997 pensioners were dropped from the roll for various causes, leaving a net increase to the number on the roll of 17,961 pensioners.

INCREASE UNDER THE ACT OF MARCH 3, 1883.

This act provided that all persons on the pension-roll, and all persons hereafter granted a pension, who, while in the naval or military service of the United States and in the line of duty shall have lost one hand or foot, or been totally or permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to render their incapacity to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a hand or foot, shall receive a pension of $24 per month.

And those who in like manner have lost either an arm at or above the elbow, or a leg at or above the knee, or shall have been otherwise so disabled as to be incapacitated for performing any manual labor, etc., shall receive a pension of $30 per month.

The operation of this law was to increase the pension of those who were properly receiving $18 to $24 per month, and to those who were properly receiving $24 to $30 per month, and involved a readjudication in each case upon these facts.

There were filed in the office up to and including June 30, 1883, 15,986 applications for increase under this act. Of these, 13,004 were allowed, and 1,110 were rejected. Of the remaining 1,872, there awaited a report of medical examination in 1,455, and 409 were under consideration with a view to reduction in the rate of pension upon the report of medical examination already made.

PENSION POPULATION.

In my last annual report I gave the results of quite extensive investigation into the subject of the possibilities of the pension business. It was, I thought, quite important to know as nearly as possible what to expect in the matter of future applications. I sought first to ascertain the total number of individuals who enlisted and served in the army and navy of the United States; rejecting the re-enlistments, and third and subsequent services, there were, I found, actual individual enlistments during the war, 2,063,391. These may now be accounted for as follows:

|---|---------|
| 1. LIVING—Individual soldiers and sailors who have not applied for pension | 962,301 |
| 2. LIVING—Individual soldiers and sailors who have applied for pension..... | 496,721 |
| 3. DEAD—Leaving pensionable relatives who have not applied for pension... | 72,340 |
| 4. DEAD—Leaving pensionable relatives who have applied for pension..... | 312,029 |
| 5. DEAD—Leaving no pensionable relatives..... | 220,000 |

Total..... 2,063,391

The act of February 14, 1871, provided a pension at the rate of $8 per month, from the date of the act to the surviving soldiers and sailors who served sixty days during the war of 1812, and that the widow was entitled to the same pension the soldier or sailor would have been entitled to had he survived; to commence from the date of the act if he died prior thereto; otherwise from the date of his death, provided she was married to him prior to the treaty of peace, and had not since re-married. Disloyalty during the late war was a bar to pension.

The act of March 9, 1878, reduced the term of service to fourteen days, or to one day if in an engagement, removed the disloyalty bar, and repealed the limitation as to the date of marriage to the soldier or sailor, the persons benefited by this act to receive pension from its approval.

Wheat, in 1882, ranked second among Ohio crops in commercial importance. The above crop, at the average price of $1.10 per bushel, would equal $4,222,220, or more than four times the value of the annual output of coal in Ohio, valued wholesale at the mine.

In proportion to the labor, too, it is one of the most profitable crops, being worth, at the above rates, $16.15 per acre, besides the straw and the clover fall feed on the stubble ground.

Pickaway, Stark, Wayne, and Fairfield counties stand highest in total yield; and Cuyahoga, Lake, Mahoning, and Summit stand highest in yield per acre. These last counties use commercial fertilizers heavily.

Buckwheat is about the least in value of our Ohio crops.

CORN is king, commercially. The value of the crop in 1882 is $59,064,910, against $46,323,200, for wheat, the next crop in value.

"ACREAGE FOR 1883" is probably reported too small in all spring crops, as planting and sowing were not completed when the returns were made.

WHEAT AVERAGES.

Average per acre of first term of nine years, 12.86; average total, 20,754,000 bushels.
 Average per acre of second term of nine years, 9.86; average total, 17,245,000 bushels.
 Average per acre of third term of nine years, 12.11; average total, 20,462,000 bushels.
 Average per acre of the term of 27 years, 11.61; average total, 19,487,000 bushels.
 Average per acre of last seven years, 16.14; average total, 39,638,000 bushels.

Thus, since the introduction of commercial fertilizers and better tillage, our total wheat product has more than doubled, and the yield per acre has increased forty per cent. These remarks do not include the year 1883, which was a most disastrous one to wheat.

This table has been collated with considerable labor, and with the kind assistance of Hon. J. R. Dodge, Chief Statistician of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington. It is of great value for reference. It makes Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana the banner wheat States for average totals. See column of averages.—[Ohio Agricultural Report, 1882.]

Rye is of little commercial importance in Ohio, the total value of the crop, in 1881, being only $351,040, against $46,323,200 for wheat.

Barley gives $1,311,120. Nearly the entire crop is raised in a few counties in the Miami and Scioto Valleys.

HAY.—It is sometimes said the hay crop of the United States is the most valuable of all. This is not true in Ohio. The total value, including clover seed, and clover plowed under for manure, is only $29,081,600, thus ranking it below wheat and corn. Hay is not sold for cash so largely as wheat, but enters into other products, butter, cheese, wool, etc., so that really to count the value of the hay crop, and then of these secondary products involves, in part, a "double count." The same is true of corn, oats, and some other crops.

Broom corn is this year reported for the first time in many years. There are evident mistakes and omissions which we have no means of correcting. The crop is not raised, to any extent, except in a few localities, and is of small financial importance to the State at large.

FLAX.—This crop, like barley, is of very uneven distribution through the State, though not for lack of adaptation of soil and climate. The total production has much diminished since the change in tariff on jute. It was formerly considered one of our best paying crops for its cost of production.

POTATOES.—Notwithstanding the poor crop, as it was called, potatoes yielded over $52 per acre, and nearly $6,000,000 in all. The acreage for 1882 is evidently not all reported. The assessment was made before planting was finished. The same is true of all spring crops.

Butter is of very uniform production by counties, and is of large commercial importance. For every $1,000 produced by corn, $169 is produced by butter. Plainly it is not all reported, however, as the amount given would be only sixteen pounds per annum to each inhabitant. This would not begin to equal the home consumption. Probably, that made for use in families and by village people is not reported.

Cheese, too, is not fully reported. For example, Summit county reports 1,120,139 pounds, whereas the single firm of S. Straight & Co., in that county, makes more than that amount. Our law-makers should enact some law to secure a more thorough reporting of statistics. Last year the report was only 28,000,000, against 30,000,000 this year (1882). The two headings, "home dairies" and "factories," have helped to bring out a fuller report.

TOBACCO.—This crop is a more important one in Ohio than is usually supposed. It is very unevenly distributed, as can be seen by examining the table of counties, a few of the southerly and easterly counties producing almost the entire crop of the State. The gross value of the crop of 1882 is $73.30 per acre. The crop, however, involves a large outlay of labor and expense, considerable skill or special training, and special adaptations of soil and climate. The total value of the crop for 1880 was $2,501,160, and the crop brings in $50 for every $1,000 brought in by corn.

Sorghum is a small crop in Ohio, and rapidly decreasing, in spite of the efforts at Washington, and elsewhere, to develop it into importance. It brings in to our farmers $6.80 for every $1,000 brought in by corn.

Maple sugar and syrup bring in over a million dollars. It is a paying crop for those who have "maple sugar on hand," and its production might be considerably increased both in quantity and quality. A prime article of maple syrup will always bring a remunerative price.

§ GRAPES AND WINE.—Grapes thrive in all parts of the State, but in large quantities they are chiefly produced in comparatively few counties. At a fair price (five cents for grapes and $2 for wine) the total crop is worth $4,305,150. The gross value of the crop per acre, for 1881, was $356.10. Much labor is required, but there is money in it for those who have suitable soil and location, and the requisite knowledge and skill. The above estimates are based on the supposition that the same grapes are not entered twice above, once as "grapes" and again as "wine." Doubtless, in many cases, however, they were so entered. There is need of more definite instructions on the assessors' blanks on such points.

The eggs for 1881 were worth $6,145.90, or $144 for every $1,000 produced by corn.

The gross value of the orchard product for 1881, at the high prices of that year, was $4,788,740, and the gross value per acre for the land occupied was $12.30.

If it is remembered, that the land "occupied" by orchards is also much of it used for tillage or meadow or pasture, it will be seen that orchards are profitable even in the "off year."

The sweet potatoes were worth $183,960, or $3.10 for every thousand dollars for corn.

The wool product of 1881, at 40 cents per pound, brings $9,381,116. The number of pounds is nearly 3,000,000 greater than in 1879, and 1,000,000 greater than in 1881. Wool brings the farmers of Ohio (in 1882) $160 for every $1,000 brought by corn.

The "dog crop" and the damage done by dogs furnish a fit problem for our legislators. See columns 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 above.

Milch cows and stallions are this year for the first time reported separately from other cattle and horses. The dairy products from each cow amount to $27.30.

The above table is based upon the tables of the preceding thirty-three pages. The collation, condensation, and necessary computations have cost many hours of patient labor, which has been cheerfully rendered, in the hope of giving some adequate idea of the total and relative commercial importance of the various products of Ohio soil. Concerning several products, (such as horses, beef, mutton, pork, wood, and lumber), we have no actual statistics, except of total value each year of all the horses, cattle, etc., owned. The above estimates of annual sales, in item four, are based on these, by considering the average life of the different animals.

Of course, some secondary products, such as butter, cheese, wool, etc., are, in part at least, counted twice; once as hay, grain, etc., and once as butter, cheese, etc. But many products are not given at all in our statistics, and many others are greatly understated, so that the grand total of $283,592,200 is probably below rather than above the actual income of the farms of Ohio in 1881.

The mineral products of Ohio for 1881, as furnished by county auditors to the Secretary of State, are scarcely more than one thirty-fifth part as much as the agricultural, given above, and yet our output of coal, iron, salt, lime, etc., is very great. They are probably not so fairly reported.

DOMESTIC ANIMALS—HORSES AND CATTLE.

Statement exhibiting the number of horses, cattle, mules, sheep and hogs returned to the Auditor of State's office by the several County Auditors, for the years 1882 and 1883.

The total assessed value of hogs, in 1882, was $6,587,148, but the real value at but bearing down, including growth on spring pigs, was probably $20,000,000. The loss by disease is about 4 per cent of this.

The total assessed value of sheep is $13,582,448, and the real value is doubtless $21,800,000, and the loss by disease is about a little over 2 per cent of this.

The assessed value of cattle is $26,941,612, and the real value about $40,000,000, and the loss is less than one per cent. of this.

The assessed value of horses is $42,207,678, and the real value is about $7,000,000, and the loss is less than one and a half per cent. of this. The loss by disease is heaviest among hogs, next heaviest among sheep, next among horses, and least among cattle. These losses probably include death from all causes except butchering, floods, and dews. It is plain, therefore, that no epizootic disease prevailed to any great extent in 1882, except, perhaps "cholera" and erg sickness.

TRADE, MANUFACTURES AND COMMERCE OF
TOLEDO, CLEVELAND AND CINCINNATI.

52 s s

TOLEDO.

MANUFACTURES, TRADE, AND COMMERCE FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1883.

[Compiled from reports of Chas. Reed, Secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Exchange, and Denison B. Smith, Secretary of the Produce Exchange.]

THE JOBBING TRADE.

Despite the unusual drawbacks to trade, developed during 1883, incident to shortage of crops in important localities, and to a general depression in several prominent branches of manufactures, thereby inducing a disposition toward rigid economy, the wholesale trade of Toledo, for the year 1883, shows, in the aggregate, a very gratifying increase. Where there has been a falling off in one locality, through a disposition to retrench, the shortage has generally been more than made up by the demand from new territory opened to trade by the building of new lines of railway and the extension of old lines. The following figures will afford the reader an idea of the volume of trade for the past year, and for the year preceding:

| | 1882. | 1883. | | 1882. | 1883. |
|-----------------------------|-----------|-----------|--------------------------|--------------|--------------|
| Agricultural implem'ts. | $230,000 | $420,000 | Hardware | 00 | $1,350,000 |

MANUFACTURING INTERESTS.

As to manufacturing interests, Toledo's record for 1883 was as follows—and the figures for 1880, the census year, are given for purposes of comparison:

| | 1880. | 1883. |
|--------------------------|--------------|--------------|
| Number of establishments | 411 | 642 |
| Capital invested | $6,503,535 | $12,000,000 |
| Hands employed | 7,279 | 11,804 |
| Yearly production | $12,339,440 | $23,300,000 |

From the annexed table the reader can more accurately understand the extent and character of Toledo's manufacturing interests, as they now stand:

| Number. | Character of establishments. | Capital employed. | Hands employed. | Annual production. |

MANUFACTURING ADVANTAGES.

The growth in manufactures, above noted, is the natural result of advantages that make themselves apparent to any one with sufficient curiosity to look into the matter. The manufacturer to thrive must have ample facilities for receiving the raw material and shipping his finished wares; and he must have cheap fuel. Toledo's facilities as a shipping point will stand comparison with any city in the country—none excepted. With the best harbor on Lake Erie, she has limitless possibilities in the way of lake trade. With twenty lines of railway, she affords her merchants and manufacturers direct and rapid communication with every part of this and adjoining States. Her railway system may be summarized as follows:

Competing lines to the East—

Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, double track to Buffalo, connecting with all eastern roads at that point.

Michigan Central, formerly Canada Southern, to Buffalo, connecting there with all railways.

Pennsylvania, connecting at Mansfield with the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago, and thence with the Pennsylvania Railway, and with all Pennsylvania roads to Pittsburgh.

Baltimore and Ohio, by way of the Dayton and Michigan Railway, at Deshler, or via the Toledo and Indianapolis, new road, to Findlay.

Toledo, Ann Arbor and Grand Trunk, with all its varied connections in Canada and the Eastern States.

New York, Chicago and St. Louis (Nickle Plate) by way of four or five lines from here intersecting it.

Receiving channels of communication—

Wabash system of roads and connections, embracing 3,275 miles under one management, to St. Louis, Cairo, and to all Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska points.

Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, double track, through Michigan and Northern Indiana to Chicago, with all its Michigan and Indiana branches.

Michigan Central, to all points in Central and Northern Michigan.

Flint and Pere Marquette, across Michigan to Saginaw.

Dayton and Michigan, to Dayton, Cincinnati, and Richmond.

Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo, to Athens, Gallipolis, and Pomeroy, Ohio, and by the Scioto Valley to Portsmouth, Ohio.

Ohio Central, to West Virginia, and soon to be extended to Newport News, Virginia.

Pennsylvania, to Mansfield.

Toledo and Ann Arbor, to Pontiac.

Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Wheeling and Lake Erie, to Marietta, Ohio.

Lake Erie and Western, to Bloomington, Illinois.

Indiana, Bloomington and Western, to Bloomington, Illinois.

Toledo and Indianapolis, air line, to Findlay, Ohio.

Michigan and Ohio, to Allegan, Michigan.

Miami and Erie Canal to Cincinnati.

From this it will be observed that every element essential to substantial growth is here. There is connection by lake and rail with the iron ore districts; with the pine and hard wood districts; with the richest grain producing belts; and as for fuel Toledo is the greatest coal market on the Chain of Lakes, and, during 1883, received the enormous amount of 2,255,628 tons. That these advantages are becoming known is evidenced by her rapid growth as a manufacturing city.

COAL TRADE.

Toledo's development as a coal centre has been little short of marvelous, as will be noted from the following tabulated statement, showing the receipts of coal for the years named therein :

LUMBER, ETC.

The receipts of lumber, shingles, lath, and staves during the past three years were as follows :

| | 1881. | 1882. | 1883. |
|---------------|-------------|-------------|-------------|
| Lumber..... | 285,174,000 | 457,405,000 | 391,425,400 |

WATER PRIVILEGES.

The T. C. and St. L. Railway has 925 feet of dock front; the Wabash, 3,070 feet; the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, 7,900 feet; the Dayton and Michigan, 2,600 feet; the Ohio Central, 3,700 feet; the Wheeling and Lake Erie, 2,400 feet; and the Hocking Valley, 1,400 feet. The dock front within the city limits is as follows: West side of the river, 8½ miles; east side of the river, 7¼ miles; Swan Creek, both sides, 5½ miles; Bay, both sides, over one mile. Total, about 22½ miles.

THE GRAIN TRADE.

The grain traffic of Toledo for the year 1883 presents some features of a highly encouraging character, and once more furnish a basis for entire reassurance concerning the city's commercial position, in the sharp contest with competing points. There are grave and adverse circumstances which have been contended with during the year. Both the wheat and corn crops in the States west and south, and nearest to Toledo market, have proved decidedly deficient, while much of this deficiency, in the aggregate of the crops, has been restored by increased trans-Mississippi production, of which Toledo receives a less proportion than St. Louis. Thus in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois, the wheat crop for 1883 is estimated by the United States Agricultural Department at 101,492,000 bushels, while in 1882 the production, by the same authority, in these States, was estimated at 176,534,000 bushels. The production of corn in the States named, in 1883, is given at 394,378,000 bushels, and in 1882 at 418,311,000 bushels. Notwithstanding this deficiency of production, in the States named, by comparison with 1882, a most gratifying increase in the receipts of each of these cereals is shown. .

The annexed table shows the yearly receipts of grain at Toledo during the past twenty-three years:

FLOUR MANUFACTURE.

As a point for the manufacture of flour, Toledo has advantages that are not out-rivaled by any other. Her system of railways concentrate here all the qualities and quantities of grain needed, and a line of steamers and barges running to Duluth furnish in addition the No. 1 hard Dakota and Minnesota wheat. Her steamers to Buffalo and rail lines to all eastern points furnish cheap facilities for distributing the flour to eastern and southern consumers.

GROWTH AND POPULATION.

Based upon the reports of the school enumerators, Toledo now has a population of nearly 70,000, and the evidences of rapid growth are such as to convince even the most persistent maligners of the "Maumee country" that an era of prosperity and substantial growth has set in. During 1883 there were built 1,360 new houses, showing an increase of 83 per cent. over the number erected during the preceding year. The best evidence that this growth is healthful, is found in the fact that the real estate demand is more active and the market in better condition generally, than for years.

The favorable position which Cleveland occupies for manufacture and trade is well illustrated in successive annual statistics which show an increased development in every direction. The steadily progressive advancement of all her industries demonstrates the stability of the basis on which they rest. We give in a condensed form the aggregate amounts of some of the leading industries for the year 1882, as gathered by the Board of Trade reports. The returns are in every way creditable to Cleveland as a manufacturing and commercial center, and will bear comparison with those of any city of equal population.

The business of the banks aggregated $113,287,425 to $103,243,648 in 1881. The figure for receipts of bituminous coal is 1,422,595 tons; of anthracite, 99,314 tons. Of iron ore 993,048 tons were received at Cleveland and 598,037 at Ashtabula. The pork packing business footed up 165,756 hogs, to 130,425 in 1881. Receipts of flour were 115,440 barrels; shipments, 141,615—a falling off in the former and a decided gain in the latter. Wheat receipts were 2,244,372 bushels; shipments, 1,278,117; gain in receipts, 1,559,712 bushels, in shipments 1,077,407. Corn receipts 857,154 bushels, and shipments, 699,316. Of oats 1,051,592 bushels were received, and 318,154 bushels shipped; barley, 286,400 bushels received, 33,117 shipped; lumber received, 317,810 feet; lath, 34,457; shingles, 112,369. The amount of vessel property registered in the Cuyahoga district is 81,269.79 tons against 75,874.95 tons a year ago, and 12,716.23 tons two years ago. The total amount of tonnage built in the district the past year is 15,628.44 tons. Iron and steel product, $1,800,000; manufacture and sale of stoves, $1,350,000; railway equipments, 12,000,000; nuts, bolts, etc., $2,300,000; machinery, $42,000,000; manufactures of brass, $850,000; crude petroleum refined into various products, 7,200,000 barrels; sales of dry goods, $8,000,000; of groceries, $8,000,000; paints and varnishes, $500,000; number barrels made, 4,500,000; fresh fish handled, 600 tons; lumber handled, 200,000,000 feet; tobacco manufactured, 1,800,000 pounds; boots and shoe business, $3,500,000; electric light business, $2,000,000; flour manufactured, 325,000 barrels; stock-yards, capacity, 10,000 hogs and 1,000 cattle; hardware business, $4,000,000; cars and bridges, $850,000; clothing, woollens and ladies' cloaks, $1,950,000; millinery and fancy goods, $3,800,000 to $4,000,000; paper manufactured, 800 tons; paper handled, 1,200 to 1 500 tons; steel springs, $350,000; carriages, $800,000; furniture, $1,500,000; fertilizers, $500,000, and an almost endless variety of smaller but no less important industries.

OPERATING AND THE CARE OF ST. MARY'S FALLS CANAL.

The engineer reports that the total number of passages through the canal during the fiscal year was 4,163, with 2,330 lockages; the registered tonnage of vessels passing through was 2,130,180, carrying 28,401 passengers, and 1,874,404 tons of freight: the average duration of lockage throughout the old locks was 40 minutes and through the new lock 35 minutes; average cost of passing a ton registered was 1½ cents, and of a ton of freight about 1.9 cents,

SHIP BUILDING.

Cleveland has five ship yards, one iron ship works, and four ship chandlers and sail makers. The reputation of Cleveland ship yards for all classes of sail and steam vessels stands very high. Many of the sailing vessels built here have been sold for use on the Atlantic Ocean, and several now in European waters have crossed the Atlantic several times. Ship building has an advantage here, not only in the access to a good timber supply, but in the supply of iron plates, which are made here. Not many years will elapse before a large per cent. of the present small wooden lake vessels will be out of service from sheer decay; their places will be taken by large vessels, made of iron. Ship building was quite active during the past year. Two iron vessels were launched, one of 2,164 tons; the other of 2,400 tons. Three propellers were launched, of 1,924, 1,506, and 1,189 tons, respectively. In addition to these, quite a fleet of schooners and tugs have been launched from the Cleveland yards. The amount of vessel property registered in the Cuyahoga district is 81,269.79 tons against 75,874.95 tons a year ago, and 12,716.23 tons two years ago. The gain is steady and healthful.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

Cleveland is the second or third city as a distributing point for lumber. The nearness to the great pine districts of Michigan, lying almost directly upon the lakes, the facilities for transporting it by water direct from the forests and the mills, and the large inland trade to the east, south, and west of the city, make it an important distributing point. There are twenty-six lumber yards in the city, employing about three million dollars capital in the local business, beside some of the dealers having large interests in timber and mills in Michigan, and owning their vessels for transportation.

The quantity handled in 1882 reached 200,000,000 feet, about the same as the previous year; but the aggregate prices realized were less. The following table shows the receipts in thousands for the Cuyahoga district, as obtained from the report of the Collector:

| | Lumber. | Lath. | Shingles. |

| 1870..... | 158,806 | 63,173 | 108,002 |

The amount of lumber on hand April 1, 1883, was 90,000,000 feet. The great spring freshet reached nearly all the yards on the flats. The damage in Cleveland is roughly estimated at not less than $1,000,000. About 20,000,000 feet of lumber and from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 shingles were washed out of the lumber yards, but much of it was recovered.

The total product of lumber in Michigan in 1881 was about 4,000,000,000 feet. This was sawed lumber, exclusive of shingles, lath, staves, hewed lumber and hard wood worth several millions. The total value of the forest products last year was over $60,000,000, and the capital invested in the business was about $110,000,000, not including the investment in pine lands, amounting to many millions. The business employed 21,000 men in saw-mills, at $2 a day, and 35,000 men in the forest camps, logging, etc., at $1.75 a day, making the total yearly wages over $17,000,000. For the wages of men employed in transporting this lumber, $4,000,000 more should be added, together with $6,000,000 paid to farmers for food for the men and beasts employed, and $4,000,000 for the wages of mechanics. The lumber product of Wisconsin and Minnesota was about equal to that of Michigan, and these three States furnished about one-third of the total of the United States.

It is estimated that there are 18,000,000,000 feet of white pine now standing in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan, while in the Upper Peninsula there are probably not less than 5,000,000,000 feet. Also, an estimated amount of 575,500,000 cords of hard wood is distributed over some 20,000,000 acres. Of this, about twenty per cent. is suitable for lumber and cooperage stock.

Cleveland market for lumber is quoted all over the country. The local rates, prices for July, 1883, are given as follows:

COAL.

No one business interest has contributed so largely to the wealth and prosperity of Cleveland as coal. The abundant supply of coal, as a fuel, in connection with the no less abundant supply of iron and crude petroleum, all so accessible to Cleveland, constitute the basis of our manufacturing operations. Cleveland is the most convenient of any one market and shipping point via the great lakes, east and west, for the coal mined in Ohio and the northwestern part of Pennsylvania. The exact figures for receipts of bituminous coal in 1882, are 1,422,595 tons; of anthracite coal, 99,314 tons. There were also 69,906 tons of Connellsville coke received at this city this last year.

The total receipts of coal at Cleveland, from 1828 to 1852, amounted to 662,862 tons, having increased from thirty tons in 1828 to 137,926 tons in 1852. We have no details from that date until 1865, but the following will serve to show the growth of the trade:

| Year. | Tons. | Year. | Tons. |
|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
| 1865..... | 465,550 | 1874..... | 1,215,353 |
| 1866..... | 583,407 | 1875..... | 1,414,124 |
| 1867..... | 668,026 | 1876..... | 1,250,531 |
| 1868..... | 759,104 | 1877..... | 1,363,345 |
| 1869..... | 922,757 | 1878..... | 1,310,838 |
| 1870..... | 904,600 | 1879..... | 1,576,807 |
| 1871..... | 1,165,910 | 1880..... | 1,750,000 |
| 1872..... | 1,348,100 | 1881..... | 1,928,383 |
| 1873..... | 1,389,212 | 1882..... | 1,922,595 |

The receipts for 1882 are divided as follows:

| | |
|--|-----------------|
| Bituminous coal by rail..... | 1,422,595 tons. |
| Bituminous coal by canal..... | 150,000 tons. |
| Bituminous coal at Newburgh (18th ward)..... | 350,000 tons. |
| | 1,922,595 tons. |
| Anthracite coal received..... | 99,314 tons. |

Lake shipments of bituminous coal:

| | 1878. | 1879. | 1880. | 1881. | 1882. |
|------------------------------------|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| To ports in British Provinces..... | 61,869 | 46,174 | 60,327 | 31,407 | 50,000 |
| To domestic ports..... | 397,412 | 580,610 | 654,533 | 828,110 | 900,000 |

The wholesale average prices of some of the bituminous coals have been: Carbon Hill, and Monday Creek, $2.65; Massillon, $2.75 to $2.85; Brier Hill, $3.25 to $3.75; Salineville, $2.25; Tuscarawas, $2.25.

COAL OIL AND ITS PRODUCTS.

The Standard Oil Company, with its headquarters in Cleveland, control in a large measure the production, price and transportation of coal oil.

The Cleveland petroleum market, which is reported all over the country, reports July 1, 1883:

| Refined oil in car lots. | Per gallon. | Refined oil in car lots. | Per gallon. |
|----------------------------------|--------------|---------------------------|-------------|
| Standard White, 112 degrees..... | 7 1/4 cents. | Water White..... | 11 cents. |
| Prime White, 150 degrees..... | 9 " | Indiana State Test..... | 9 " |
| Water White, 150 degrees..... | 11 " | Water White..... | 11 " |
| Headlight, 175 degrees..... | 11 " | Michigan State Test..... | 9 1/2 " |
| Wisconsin State Test..... | 8 1/4 " | Water White..... | 12 1/4 " |
| Water White..... | 10 1/4 " | Minnesota State Test..... | 9 " |
| Ohio State Test..... | 9 " | Water White..... | 11 " |

Five barrels and under, 2 1/2 cents above car prices; 10 barrels and under, 2 cents; 20 barrels and under, 1 cent. The quotations on car lots are for cash; 15 days time 1/2 cent is added.

In addition to the extensive works of the Standard Oil Company, there are in this city forty-four different manufactories for refining oil and its products; several of them make gasoline and naphtha.

Gasoline is one of the light products of petroleum. Every 100 barrels of crude coal oil, as it is pumped out or flows from the wells, contains about fifteen barrels of gasoline or naphtha. In the process of refining this oil the gasoline is separated from the rest and is re-distilled and refined, and is then called refined "naphtha," "benzine," "burning fluid" and "gasoline," according to the gravity it bears. Naphtha has from 62° to 72° gravity. It is used largely by painters as a solvent and for the dilution of paints. Gasoline must be above 70° gravity, and is used largely in vapor stoves for heating purposes, and the lighting of street lamps. A high test gasoline, 86° to 90°, is used in gas machines for illuminating. There are four manufactories of gasoline and naphtha in Cleveland, making a product of 200,000 barrels, with aggregate sales of about one million dollars, employing seventy-five men. One of these is the largest refiner and distiller of these products in the United States. They were among the first who initiated the separation of the different gravities of gasoline and naphtha by distillation, defined their proper uses, and established their mercantile values. Their products are chymogene, in demand for refrigerating purposes, rhigoline, used by surgeons as a local anæsthetic, gasoline of high gravity for making gas in machines and vapor lamps, and also largely used as fuel for stoves and boilers, and deodorized naphtha, extensively used by painters, and in various kinds of manufactures, each of these grades being specially prepared for the particular purpose for which it may be required.

IRON ORES.

There is no place in the country where the quantity and variety of iron ores equals this city. There were about 200,000 tons of various ores in stock on the Cleveland dock at the close of navigation last fall. The following are the lake receipts at Cleveland and Ashtabula for the years named:

| | Cleveland. | Ashtabula. |
|-----------|------------|------------|
| 1882..... | 968,048 | 598,037 |
| 1881..... | 828,419 | 377,976 |
| 1880..... | 758,983 | 298,594 |
| 1879..... | 525,402 | 222,030 |
| 1878..... | 509,332 | 195,254 |
| 1877..... | 505,974 | 218,145 |
| 1876..... | 111,288 | 177,648 |
| 1875..... | 245,801 | 115,880 |
| 1874..... | 456,682 | 79,216 |
| 1873..... | 674,324 | 15,112 |
| 1872..... | 622,059 | |
| 1871..... | 385,721 | |
| 1870..... | 581,461 | |

The consumption of iron ores in the country last year was 8,000,000 tons, and there were imported 782,000 tons, which is about an eighth of the consumption. Lake Champlain can produce 3,000,000 tons annually; New York State other than Lake Champlain 1,000,000 tons; Southwest Virginia and New Jersey sufficient for all the mills, and the Lake Superior country alone can produce enough for the United States for a hundred years to come.

The following table shows the importations of iron ores in 1881 and 1882:

| Customs Districts. | 1881—Tons. | 1882—Tons. |
|----------------------------------|------------|------------|
| Baltimore, Md..... | 238,399 | 247,010 |
| Boston and Charleston, Mass..... | 2,103 | 2,260 |
| Buffalo Creek, N. Y..... | 5,567 | 644 |
| Cape Vincent, N. Y..... | 158 | |

| Puget Sound, Wash..... | 1,000 | 500 |
| Total..... | 621,073 | 580,207 |

The Spanish ores, composing the largest portion of the importations, are now entered for duty, at the average of 7 per cent. paying a 20 per cent. ad valorem about 35 cents per ton.

In Spain wages are from 35 to 60 cents per day, and ore costs on board $1.20. In America wages are from $1.50 to $2.25; it costs to mine a ton of ore from $2.50 to $2.80; to get it on board a boat or cars, $1.50, making a total cost of over $4.00.

Prices for first-class or fancy ores have fallen from $10.00 a ton at Cleveland last year to $8.00 this year, and from the next quality of ores from $9.00 last year to $7.00 and $6.50 this year.

The following are the market reports in Cleveland for August, 1883:

| | | |
|---|---------|------|
| No. 1 Specular and Magnetic Bessemer ores | $6 50c | 7 50 |
| No. 1 Specular non-Bessemer ores | 6 25c | 6 30 |

| Non-Bessemer Hematites | 4 50c | 5 00 |
| Menominee Range Bessemer | 5 50c | 6 00 |
| Menominee Range non-Bessemer | 4 25c | 5 50 |

PIG IRON.

The consumption and sale of pig iron in Cleveland is very large. The supply is largely from Lake Superior and the Mahoning Valley, besides there are six blast furnaces in the city. Five of them belong to the Cleveland Rolling Mill Company, with a capacity of making 450 tons of pig metal per day, requiring 700 tons of iron ore and 550 tons of coal and coke per day. The other blast furnace is owned by the Union Furnace Company, with a capacity of 80 tons of pig metal per day. The business of manufacturing pig iron is somewhat depressed this year, quite a number of furnaces going out of blast for want of a paying demand for the metal.

COPPER.

Cleveland has large interests in the copper mines of Lake Superior, and with its facilities for receiving, shipping, and handling copper ores, it makes the Lake Superior copper district contributory to its business. The copper district of Lake Superior embraces the counties of Houghton, Keweenaw, Ontonagon, and Isle Royal.

The following table shows the product (refined copper) of the Lake Superior copper mines for each year since 1872, together with the approximating value:

| Years. | Tons. | Value. |
|-------------|---------|---------------|
| 1872 | 12,276 | $7,979,400 |
| 1873 | 15,045 | 8,720,100 |
| 1874 | 17,160 | 8,000,56 |
| 1875 | 19,019 | 8,100,208 |
| 1876 | 19,135 | 7,960,400 |
| 1877 | 19,111 | 7,827,888 |
| 1878 | 20,845 | 6,920,600 |
| 1879 | 21,425 | 7,327,000 |
| 1880 | 24,000 | 9,917,672 |
| 1881 | 27,274 | 9,955,021 |
| 1882 | 28,191 | 10,400,329 |
| Total | 256,820 | $163,037,708 |

The product of the whole country, commencing with the year 1872, when the production of copper in the United States was 28,000,000 pounds, it has risen to 88,000,000

CINCINNATI.

[Prepared by Sindey D. Maxwell, Superintendent Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce]

GENERAL REVIEW OF COMMERCE AND MANUFACTURES

The general aspects of the business of the year 1882-83 have not been for the most part such as to excite much interest. It has not been a period of distress, but one distinguished by great shrinkage in the value of securities and commodities. The depreciation in value, in the latter, particularly during most of the latter half of the year, and at the close seemed in most cases to have culminated. In some commodities the lowest prices which have prevailed for a long period were reached. There was scarcely an exception to the decline, and it is a noticeable circumstance that the whole proceeded without a panic, and without an extraordinary number of failures, this city especially having been more exempt from serious reverses of this nature. The period has been except in one respect that when great depreciation ordinarily takes place in commodities, it has been preceded by some financial crash that has startled the whole body of commerce, impairing confidence and damaging credit by one unexpected blow, and, in view of the war, by the prevalence of general doubt concerning the safety of the money of the country, thus preparing the way for shrinkage in values under circumstances calculated to create the largest possible distress. In the present shrinkage has proceeded without any extraordinary visitation, it in general has been apparently a steady tendency to a lower plane of values, as well as in the kinds of securities, as in the products of our industries; and it is a peculiar feature of the time, which has been witnessed once before since the inauguration of the present banking system, that the money of the country, supported as it is by the credit of the nation, is, in the minds of the public, safer than any other class of credits. That the securities of railroads have been more or less impaired in value, it is not true that the usefulness of railroad property to the country has not been seriously affected. Though the revenue of the roads may be temporarily reduced, the capacity and usefulness continues undisturbed, the roads remaining the great arteries in the commerce of the country continues to pulsate with vigor and healthfulness.

The number of steamboats which have arrived and departed has been about the same as in the previous year, and yet this is without special significance, since it is principally traceable to the discontinuance of one or two local packets, which made frequent trips, the work of which is now done by other vessels running over the same lines. The number of vessels plying between this and other ports exhibits a slight increase, and the aggregate tonnage shows very little falling off. The year has not been favorable, because of active competition and consequent low rates of freight, but it is an encouraging aspect of affairs that the year commences with increased facilities for doing business, and with the hope that the coming season may bring a better return to the owners of such property.

It is worthy of notice that recently there has been a marked increase in the banking facilities, the capital of our national banks having increased, in $1,000,000, and in three years $5,000,000, and the banking capital of Cincinnati, Covington, and Newport combined, having reached, in the past year, $12,821,000. Whether this be taken as the measure of absolute pressure for more money on the part of those who are, to some extent, dependent on other for capital to prosecute business, or a disposition of those having money to stimulate the commercial and industrial work of the city, it is equally an enlargement of our facilities. The visitation of the great flood in February, 1883, unprecedented in its height since the settlement of the country, practically suspended business for a week or ten days, most of the business houses and manufactories in the lower part of the city having been invaded by the water, and the attention of our population having been given to the saving of life and property, and to the relief of the hungry and homeless. This, however, was only a temporary matter, inasmuch as soon as the water had subsided, business rapidly resumed its usual channels, so that in a few days there was little remaining to mark the extraordinary circumstance, save the high water-marks in the buildings which had been submerged, and which, serious as it was at the time, embraced a very small part of the entire area of the city.

The year has been distinguished by an unusual amount of building, especially in the erection of substantial edifices, some of them being the most expensive improvements ever made in Cincinnati. The year had added to the city splendid business houses and an unusual number of edifices, known as flats, for the accommodation of the better class who desire to avoid the responsibility of independent establishments. Renewed interest, too, has been awakened in some of the suburbs, where the number of houses has materially increased. A larger amount of money has doubtless gone into building than ever before in our history in a similar period. Renewed activity has been witnessed in real estate, which has exhibited considerable increase in value, especially in good business property, which has commanded much attention and felt the stimulation more than any other kind of such property. The year as a whole, however, has been characterized by features which were unfavorable. Coupled with a general disposition to get down to a lower plane of values in nearly everything, save in real estate, was the agitation incident to the change in both the internal revenue laws and in the tariff, the uncertainty and doubt preceding the change, and the inability to fully weigh the consequences of the latter even after it had been affected.

The year, in general, closed in the midst of general depression in business circles in the whole country, and without any indication of an early change, Cincinnati, perhaps, feeling the effects of the unfavorable condition as little as any city in the country. It may be remarked, too, of Cincinnati, that among all the cities of the country no one has larger recuperative power. Whatever the diminished business in the country generally may be traceable to, this city so largely rests on her own resources, which are ample to meet all emergencies, that the capacity of her business agencies for usefulness is never impaired. These agencies may not have full employment, but they stand ready, now more than ever, by lower rates of taxation than for many years, to avail themselves of the first indications of returning demand.

To the various industries of the city the early period of the year brought large activity; our manufacturers generally, in the first half, having been running to full capacity, and almost uniformly reporting favorable conditions, many, however, complaining of heavy competition and a consequent narrowing of profits. In the closing months there was, however, a very noticeable falling off in the demands for many manufactured articles, and a growing apprehension of something happening that nobody could exactly define. This was followed by a general abatement in our industrial activity, and by a feeling of conservatism which moved men to await the development of events. It may, however, be said, that our manufacturers, generally, have remained in sound condition. They have exhibited the same inherent strength which has distinguished them in other periods of dullness or trial, and have preserved a capacity for active work which will avail itself of the first signs of recuperation. There is among the manufacturers of Cincinnati a large reserve force, the consciousness of which saves them from demoralization on the one hand, and preserves all their working forces for active operation at the suitable time on the other. Their ability to endure is never exhausted and their capacity for efficient work is never impaired. It is an encouraging feature of the year that a larger interest has been awakened in the establishment here of more extensive cotton manufactures than we have hitherto enjoyed, the importance of which has frequently been urged in these reports. In the calendar year of 1882, according to the figures of J. F. Blackburn, Esq., Secretary of the Board of Trade and Transportation, the manufactures of the city aggregated in value $194,572,536, in comparison with $186,329,687 in 1881, exhibiting an increase of $8,242,849. To produce these results in Cincinnati, there were engaged in 1882, 5,518 establishments, cash capital amounting to $77,624,359, real estate occupied valued at $43,767,681, and hands numbering 90,523, in comparison with 5,335 establishments, cash capital aggregating $72,916,171, real estate valued at $41,283,135, and hands numbering 86,293, in the previous year. The calendar year of 1883 will, doubtless, show reduction in production, at least in some departments, but it is noticeable that, prior to the shadows which began to stretch across the commercial horizon in the summer of 1883, our manufacturers, generally, were very actively employed. The results in the fiscal year of the government, ending June 30, 1883, would, no doubt, make the largest showing this city has ever made. This activity, too, was not confined to any one class of manufactures. Aside from whisky and tobacco, which were mainly disturbed by pending legislation in Congress, there was scarcely an important industry that did not show increase, and in some instances this development was very pronounced. It is proper that this should be remarked, inasmuch as it may be taken as a fair measure of our industrial capabilities, when conditions are generally favorable in the whole country. There is one aspect of the business situation which, more than ever before, urges itself on public attention, and that is, that the city's future prosperity is to be found in its industrial development, more than in its commercial growth. This condition of things comes from the very nature of the case, over which enterprise and ambition, however exalted, exercise no permanent control. Situated in the midst of population, convenient to raw materials, with admirable facilities for distribution, both by rail and river, with a large industrial population, now numbering, in those actually employed, nearly one hundred thousand persons, with the prestige of a great manufacturing center, and with production generally in the hands of those who are not only thoroughly familiar with the work, but who have ample capital and credit to meet every emergency, there are found conditions which are favorable to continued growth. With the increasing demands of the time, and a steady enlargement of the domain of American enterprise among the nations of the earth, there appears no limit to the development of this city in this direction, save what may be placed upon it by our own people. If the possibilities of the situation are fully comprehended, so that all the expenses of doing business shall be reduced to the minimum, thus encouraging the enlargement of our facilities for production to the maximum, it requires no prophetic vision to see here in the future one of the great industrial cities of the world. This, however, means not merely that, with ample material and people whose needs we may supply through convenient facilities, we shall have intelligent and skilled and ambitious manufacturers, but that the public, in its intercourse with them, shall give them all that is needed for the accomplishment of the great work which has been confided to them. They must have low taxes, cheap freights, and, as nearly as possible, railroad facilities to their very doors. These are not conditions which can be ignored with impunity. They come from the pressure of competitive influences which are more powerful than established business society, and which can not be resisted, without, first, a loss of vigor, and, eventually, decadence, nor embraced without entering a field which will so steadily and healthfully ripen into an abundant harvest, that the past will prove but the earlier sheaves.

The year to the grain business of the city does not make a favorable showing. An unsatisfactory corn crop as to quality, reduced requirements of the distilleries, both here and in Kentucky, and a diminished demand for both corn and oats from the South, because of the unprecedented grain and grass crops in that section, all combined to materially reduce the aggregate receipts. The net receipts, however, of barley, oats, rye, and wheat, each, were larger than in the preceding year, and the aggregate net receipts of all kinds exhibited little decrease, having been 8,964,128 bushels, in comparison with 8,992,039 in 1881-82. The aggregate receipts of all kinds of grain were 12,992,576 bushels, with an approximate aggregate value of $8,950,066, in comparison with 17,346,894 bushels, and a value of $15,361,741 in 1881-82, and 15,564,082 bushels, and a value of $10,420,630 in the years 1880-81. The shipments aggregated 4,028,448 bushels, with an approximate value of $3,311,851, in comparison with 8,354,855 bushels, with a value of $8,044,004 in 1881-82, and 5,856,920 bushels, with a value of $4,295,254 in 1880-81. Though there was a considerable reduction in the receipts of wheat in the commercial year, the receipts of the crop year, commencing about the middle of June, show a very marked increase, having aggregated 5,236,729 bushels, in comparison with 1,945,863 in 1881-82, and make the largest showing in the history of the city, measured by the crop year. If to these figures, as to receipts and shipments, were added the through shipments, it would show the total inward movement of all kinds of grain, in 1882-83, to have been 15,840,051 bushels, in comparison with 19,152,119 in 1881-82, and the outward movement 6,875,923 bushels, compared with 10,160,080.

Though there was a considerable increase in the number of hogs killed at Cincinnati, in the season of 1882-83, the outward movement, because of diminished receipts varied little from the preceding year, the entire shipments of the hog product having aggregated 118,412,089 pounds, with an approximate value of $12,598,083, in comparison with 120,485,825 pounds, and a value of $12,989,846 in 1881-82. The receipts aggregated 39,898,520 pounds, with an approximate value of $3,906,249, in comparison with 57,140,294 pounds, and a value of $5,597,835. The whole number of hogs packed in the winter season of 1882-83 was 425,400 head, at an aggregate cost of $7,551,590, compared with 384,878 head, and a cost of $6,337,336 in 1881-82. The year, in the main, was an unfavorable one to packers, who, after the first of May, had to contend with a steadily declining market.

The production of distilled spirits in Cincinnati and adjoining cities shows a considerable falling off, largely owing to the operation of the Western Export Association for the regulation of this matter. The total quantity produced in 1882-83, 12,634,501.04 proof gallons, compared with 15,116,593.75 in 1881-82. The production here and receipts from points beyond our own distilleries aggregated, approximately 22,725,351.04 proof gallons, with an approximate value of $28,069,227, compared with 24,433,253.75 gallons, and a value of $30,972,341 in 1881-82. While both production and receipts exhibit a considerable falling off, the shipments from the city, both in quantity and value, fall little behind the previous year, the total quantity of spirits shipped, including alcohol, having been the equivalent of 493,157 barrels, with an approximate value of $28,245,383, in comparison with 496,430 barrels, and a value of $28,945,798 in the preceding year.

The pig iron business of the city continues to show a wholesome increase. The aggregate sales from first hands in 1882-83, including iron sold for direct shipment to the furnaces to points of consumption, having aggregated 417,635 tons, with an approximate value of $10,703,985, in comparison with 386,510 tons, and a value of $10,996,209, the slightly diminished aggregate value being traceable to the lower prices which prevailed throughout the year. The business of the city fourteen years ago aggregated but $1,767,000. While the aggregate business transacted thus shows an increase, the actual receipts at this city were less than in the previous year, having aggregated 144,587 tons, compared with 156,340 in 1881-82. The actual shipments in 1882-83 were 106,819 tons, in comparison with 100,983 in the previous year, and with 78 tons twenty-two years ago. In manufactured iron the year has been marked by a depression and a steady gravitation to lower prices. Though the period has been distinguished by large consumption, more iron has been pressing on the market than was warranted by the wants of the country, thus placing the mills constantly at a disadvantage. While the fall and winter brought a good trade to the stove manufacturers, the latter half of the year was characterized by a very conservative action among both manufacturers and dealers, accompanied by diminished production and slightly lower prices. The year to the manufacturers of nails was measurably a bad one, because of the uniform methods resorted to for the lessening of production when it became desirable. The receipts at this city were 514,467 kegs, in comparison with 536,122 in 1881-82.

The year, in general, makes a favorable exhibit for the wholesale grocery business of the city, although the latter half of the period was somewhat affected by the general want of faith among commercial classes, and was marked by caution on the part of buyers, who seemed disposed to purchase little beyond immediate wants. The large crop of sugar in Louisiana was favorable to liberal receipts of both sugar and molasses, the direct consignments from plantations, showing an encouraging increase. The business in teas and the scope of their distribution varied little from the previous year. The receipts of coffee aggregated 227,697 bags, compared with 181,200 in 1881-82; molasses, 63,193 barrels, in comparison with 63,776, and sugar the equivalent of 289,157 barrels, compared with 225,951, and the shipments of coffee 144,430 bags, in comparison with 105,430; molasses, 45,159 barrels, compared with 48,000, and sugar the equivalent of 182,828 barrels, in comparison with 113,360. The aggregate approximate value of the receipts of coffee, molasses, sugar, and rice, for the year, was $11,369,393, in comparison with $11,025,567, showing, notwithstanding largely increased receipts in both coffee and sugar, that the aggregate value, because of lower prices having prevailed, was little in excess of the previous year.

The business in live stock, in 1882-83, was mainly satisfactory, though in some respects not equal to the previous year. There was an increase in the number of hogs received, and a reduction in both cattle and sheep. The receipts at the yards, however, of hogs, cattle, and sheep combined, make the largest showing in the history of the city, having aggregated 2,018,781 head, in comparison with 1,989,639 in the previous year. Because of duplication at the yards, these figures are in excess of the actual receipts at this city, which were 1,756,365 head, compared with 1,777,497 in 1881-82. The actual receipts of cattle aggregated 218,425 head, with an approximate value of $10,746,125, in comparison with 211,671 head, and a value of $12,165,946 in 1881-82; of hogs, 836,223 head and a value of $13,327,912, compared with 731,408 head and a value of $10,971,784; and of sheep, 701,717 head, with a value of $2,758,990, in comparison with 804,418 head and a value of $3,022,779. The shipments of cattle were 84,205 head, with a value of $5,473,325, compared with 96,014 head and a value of $6,720,930; of hogs, 242,045 head, with a value of $2,695,051, compared with 184,519 head and a value of $2,214,228; and of sheep, 522,505 head with a value of $1,970,681, compared with 629,269 head and a value of $2,359,758. The aggregate approximate value of the receipts of cattle, hogs, and sheep, in 1882-83, was $26,833,027, compared with $26,160,539 in 1881-82, and of the shipments $10,139,057, in comparison with $11,294,966.

The statistics as to flour make the largest showing in our history, both in movement and production. There has been, in late years, a large increase in the capacity of the flouring mills of the city, and a general introduction of the most approved processes of manufacture. An increased quantity went from this city to foreign countries. The receipts aggregated 1,144,464 barrels, with an aggregate value of $5,121,476, compared with 779,625 barrels and a value of $4,507,746 in 1881-82. The receipts show an increase of 364,839 barrels, although, because of lower prices prevailing, there was not a corresponding increase in value. The shipments reached 1,014,379 barrels, with a value of $4,535,795, in comparison with 612,829 and a value of $3,559,113.

The year to the cotton business of the city has not been favorable. With the largest crop on record, both the business transacted here and the movement make a discouraging showing, the result mainly of unfavorable freight rate adjustments. The receipts aggregated 383,131 bales, with a value of $18,198,722, in comparison with 395,735 bales, and a value of $21,963,292, and the shipments 376,912 bales, with a value of $17,903,320, compared with 396,783 bales, and a value of $22,021,456. These figures represent the entire movement at this city, and so can not be taken as a fair measure of our local business. With the completion of the Southern Railway system to New Orleans and into Texas, and the general improvement of our railway facilities to the cotton-producing districts, there is reason to expect an increase in our local business in the coming year.

Our facilities in transacting business in leaf tobacco were largely increased in 1882-83, and the work performed by the warehouses exceeded any preceding year. The receipts of the warehouses of white tobacco aggregated 56,743 hogsheads, in comparison with 55,426 in 1881-82. The sales at the warehouses, however, showed a much larger increase, having reached 58,941 hogsheads, in comparison with 46,437.

The total receipts of the city, of such tobacco as was packed in hogsheads, aggregated 90,150 hogsheads, in comparison with 81,519 in the preceding year. The receipts of seed leaf at the warehouses reached 8,000 cases, compared with 8,436 in 1881-82, though this by no means represents the entire receipts of this kind of tobacco. The total receipts of leaf tobacco of all kinds, including foreign leaf, aggregated, approximately, in value, $12,287,560, in comparison with $11,703,206 in the preceding year. The total production of chewing and smoking tobacco, comprising both fine-cut and plug, in Cincinnati, Covington, and Newport, in 1882-83, aggregate 15,708,596½ pounds, in comparison with 6,516,465½ in 1881-82, a falling off, which, like the previous year, is traceable to the agitation incident to the reduction which finally took place in the internal taxes on tobacco, on the first of May, the product after that period exhibiting a large increase. The number of cigars manufactured in the same time reached, in the three cities, 126,271,260, in comparison with 125,153,450 in 1881-82. The aggregate taxes paid on both sides of the river, on chewing and smoking tobacco, cigars and snuff, reached $1,343,215.92, compared with $1,800,875.59 in the preceding year.

While the coal trade of the year was somewhat less than in 1881-82, it was still the largest, with this exception, in the history of the city, the receipts having aggregated 54,620,032 bushels, or 2,025,859 tons, with an approximate aggregate value of $4,633,424, in comparison with 59,267,620 bushels, or 2,197,407 tons, with a value of $5,793,523 in 1881-82, the greater relative reduction in value being traceable to the lower prices which prevailed. Of these receipts in 1882-83, there came by river 50,640,517 bushels, or 1,875,574 tons, or 92.7 per cent. of the whole quantity, compared with 55,161,948 bushels, or 2,043,034 tons, or 93 per cent. of the whole in 1881-82. The quantity received by rail was 3,979,515 bushels, or 147,389 tons, or 7.3 per cent., in comparison with 4,105,672 bushels, or 154,573 tons, or 7 per cent. in 1881-82. The shipments in 1882-83 aggregated 10,341,150 bushels, or 383,005 tons, with a value of $1,059,967, in comparison with 10,262,019 bushels, or 380,074 tons, with a value of $1,128,822 in 1881-82. The growth of the coal trade is one of the marked features of the business of Cincinnati. Our receipts are now more than double what they were twelve years ago, and the business has increased seven-fold since 1855-56. It is estimated that, to have transported by rail, the coal received by river in the past year, would have required 125,038 cars, making necessary the arrival here of more than 13 trains, of 30 cars each, on every business day of the year, and representing freight in quantity well nigh double the entire freight annually transported to this city, by all the steamboats arriving, during the thirteen years prior to the war, assuming that the average tonnage would equal the average carrying capacity of all the boats in the Cincinnati trade in 1852-53, a year which represented the largest number of arrivals on the records of the Chamber of Commerce. The receipts of coke aggregated 3,362,063 bushels, in comparison with 3,691,050 in 1881-82, the total supply, including that manufactured here, having been 5,533,361 bushels, in comparison with 6,042,300 in 1881-82. The shipments to the interior of coke, in 1882-83, were 947,800 bushels, in comparison with 1,198,400 in 1881-82.

The business in petroleum, in the past year, exceeded any preceding period. The total sales at this city, according to actual returns from the dealers, embracing also such as was sold for direct shipment from the refineries, as well as that which was actually received here, reached, approximately, 562,531 barrels, with an aggregate approximate value of $2,979,250, in comparison with 441,337 barrels and a value of $2,375,334 in 1881-82. Of these sales, in 1882-83, 458,763 barrels were illuminating oils, in comparison with 350,598 in 1881-82.

In malt liquors, the production not only exhibits a considerable increase over the preceding year, but makes the largest showing in the history of the city, having aggregated in the cities of Cincinnati, Covington and Newport, which are practically Cincinnati, 874,813 barrels, or 27,119,203 gallons, with an approximate aggregate value of $8,998,504, in comparison with 827,281 barrels, or 25,645,711 gallons, with a value of $6,618,248 in 1881-82. To produce this, in the past year, there were consumed in the three cities, of malt, 1,843,787 bushels, and of hops, 1,401,425 pounds. The shipments of beer from the city, not embracing the bottled, which was estimated at 20,000 barrels, aggregated 286,665 barrels, in comparison with 248,216 in the preceding year. The quantity remaining for local consumption, making allowance for such beer as was received from outside points, and for the difference in stocks at the close of each year, was, approximately, the equivalent of 222,273,600 glasses of the usual size.

The business in soaps for the past year shows a large increase, the shipments having aggregated 575,157 boxes, in comparison with 513,923 in 1881-82. The shipments from this city are three times what they were ten years ago, and our products of this nature never have been so widely distributed as now. The capacity for production has been largely increased in the past year, and the conduct of the business generally is distinguished for its intelligent enterprise, and a management which finds its great success in caring for its customers. The candle business of the whole country is on the wane, no less here, however, than elsewhere. The shipments from Cincinnati in the past year were 200,494 boxes, in comparison with 249,002 in 1881-82.

The year, to the salt business of the city, brought diminished production in the Ohio and Kanawha districts, and increased arrivals from Saginaw. The aggregate business varied little from the previous year. The receipts of all kinds of salt were, approximately, the equivalent of 350,578 barrels, in comparison with 360,489 in 1881-82, nearly all of which was domestic product. If to these figures, in 1882-83, were added the sales made here for direct shipments from the furnaces to the points of consumption, it would make the total business 400,002 barrels, with an aggregate value of $406,760. The shipments were the equivalent of 255,890 barrels, with a value of $277,267.

In foreign fruits, the business exhibits a considerable increase over the preceding year. In oranges and lemons, the receipts largely exceeded any previous season, the former having aggregated 91,881 boxes, compared with 56,344 in 1881-82, and the latter 40,979 boxes, in comparison with 25,991. The receipts of green apples, by public conveyances, were the largest in our history, having aggregated 305,041 barrels, compared with 229,539, and the shipments 181,091 barrels, in comparison with 119,582. The business in dried fruit has been conducted with commendable vigor, having furnished receipts aggregating 202,777 bushels, compared with 164,780, and shipments 163,282 bushels, in comparison with 113,787. Liberal exports were made from this city to France and Germany.

The business in leather and hides has been generally unsatisfactory, especially in the former, in which prices have been steadily shrinking throughout the year, and in which the market has been greatly depressed. There, however, has been a large consumption of leather, and a steadily growing demand for the product of our tanneries, especially from our manufacturers of boots and shoes, saddlery, etc. Although a less number of hides has gone into the vats here, the business in this article has been well maintained. Prices have been somewhat lower, but it is noticeable how much easier it has been to hold up the price of hides, than to prevent the decline in leather. The total receipts of hides, including those from animals slaughtered here, aggregated, approximately, 26,714,700 pounds, in comparison with 28,828,789 in 1881-82, of which there were shipped, approximately, 10,960,300 pounds, in comparison with 11,288,400 in 1881-82. The receipts of leather, not embracing that which was made here, aggregated in the past year 43,516 bundles, in comparison with 47,373 in 1881-82, showing a considerable falling off, and yet the outward movement is shown to have been larger, as far as packages are concerned, than ever before, having aggregated 51,914 bundles, compared with 49,387 in the preceding year.

The year, to the butter business of Cincinnati, was generally unsatisfactory, having been characterized by a spiritless market, diminished receipts and lower prices. The receipts by public conveyances aggregated 116,704 packages, with an approximate value of $1,761,704, in comparison with 125,622 packages, and a value of $1,922,900, in 1881-82. The production of butterine exhibits an increase, having aggregated 740,343 pounds, with an approximate value of $125,858, in comparison with 664,899 pounds, and a value of $113,032 in 1881-82. It is estimated that about two-thirds of the production is shipped from the city. The receipts of cheese were less than in the preceding year, having aggregated 105,845 boxes, in comparison with 116,559 in 1881-82. The receipts of eggs exhibit a large increase, those arriving by public conveyances being represented by 152,354 packages, in comparison with 108,476 in the preceding year.

The conditions were not favorable to a large business in hay, there having been abundant supplies in almost all sections of the country. The receipts of all kinds were the equivalent of 279,894 bales, with an approximate aggregate value of $562,587, in comparison with 395,792 bales, and a value of $1,135,923, in 1881-82. The receipts of mill feed were large, aggregating 30,130 tons, with an approximate value of $467,069, in comparison with 16,604 tons, and a value of $338,371, in the preceding year. While the receipts of clover, timothy, and grass seeds generally, were not equal to the preceding year, the business was the most satisfactory in many seasons. A good, legitimate demand readily took up the supplies, at remunerative prices. The receipts aggregated 77,353 bags, with an approximate value of $837,337, in comparison with 100,624 bags, and a value of $850,664, in 1881-82.

The business in lumber at this city has exceeded any previous year, both in pine and hard woods. The receipts of the former particularly have been largely in excess of any other season, having been greatly increased through the instrumentality of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, which is opening up the great lumber regions of the South. It is believed that double the usual quantity of yellow pine came to this market in 1882-83. The entire receipts of pine lumber are placed, approximately, at 210,000,000 feet, compared with 165,000,000 in 1881-82, and of hard lumber 35,000,000, in comparison with 30,000,000, not embracing the product of the mills of this city. The entire receipts of lumber, including shingles, in 1882-83, are estimated in value at $6,572,230, compared with $5,761,500 in the previous year.

The statistics touching horses show a slightly diminished number sold, with an increased aggregate value, because of generally better prices having prevailed. The sales at the stables aggregated 26,975 head, with a value of $2,624,263, compared with 28,059 head, with a value of $2,448,367. With the exception of 1880-81, the aggregate value makes the largest showing in our history. The horses sold averaged $97.28 per head, compared with $88.68 in 1881-82. The total receipts, which fall below the aggregate sales at the stables, because of duplication in the latter, were 23,725 head, compared with 23,060 head in 1881-82, and the shipments 16,582, in comparison with 19,508.

The business in paper at Cincinnati, in its extent, has not varied much from the preceding year, though to producers the year has been generally unsatisfactory. In the district tributary to this city, while there has been large production, especially in wrapping papers, prices have been in some departments really lower than ever before known. The returns from 45 mills tributary to Cincinnati, mainly located in the Great Miami Valley, show a total production of 77,760,332 pounds, with an aggregate value of $4,462,961, in comparison with 71,857,692 pounds, and a value of $4,061,618. There were employed in this production, hands numbering 2,091, cash capital aggregating $1,824,298, and real estate valued at $2,866,169.

The receipts of potatoes by public conveyance exceeded any previous year, having aggregated 445,822 barrels, with an approximate value of $931,768, in comparison with 429,653 barrels, and a value of $1,420,003 in the previous year. The receipts of beans were the largest in our history, save during the abnormal period of the war, when they were brought here for distribution to our armies, having aggregated in 1882-83, 66,844 bushels, with a value of $159,757, in comparison with 66,320 bushels, and a value of $203,602 in 1881-82. The receipts of feathers are represented by 16,818 sacks, the largest number of packages that appear in any one year on the books of the Chamber of Commerce, with a value of $381,095, compared with 10,155 sacks, and a value of $223,410 in 1881-82.

The starch manufacturers have had the most satisfactory season's work in several years. A much better understanding was arrived at among the producers of the West early in the year, so that prices have been remunerative and still have been low enough, because of lower-priced raw materials, to renew exportation to foreign countries. The total production at this city shows a large increase, having aggregated 20,135,000 pounds, compared with 14,252,442 in 1881-82.

The business in wool was not very satisfactory. Unremunerative prices generally prevailed, and the markets of the country were dull. The receipts at this city aggregated 27,170 bales, with an approximate aggregate value of $1,438,108, in comparison with 33,801 bales, with a value of $1,926,657 in 1881-82.

The receipts of country cooperage aggregated 264,513 pieces, compared with 261,340, and the shipments of all kinds 130,263 pieces, in comparison with 194,725. The year to the hop trade was marked by the highest prices ever known in this country; hops, because of the failure abroad, having at one time commanded $1.15 per pound, the average price in ten years preceding having been but 30.62 cents per pound. The receipts in the number of packages show a falling off, although the aggregate value exhibits an enormous increase, because of the high prices, the receipts having aggregated 9,861 bales, with a value of $1,380,540, in comparison with 11,833 bales and a value of $691,994 in 1881-82. The receipts of hemp were 15,152 bales, in comparison with 18,872 bales in 1881-82.

The crop of broom corn in 1882 turned out to be an unusually large one, though below the average in quality. The receipts were the largest in the history of the city, having aggregated 3,069,329 pounds, in comparison with 1,482,544 in 1881-82. The production of brooms exhibits a large increase. The crop of peanuts in Tennessee, which are mainly marketed here, having been much larger than in the previous year, our receipts of all kinds show a marked increase, having aggregated 426,955 bushels, with an approximate value of $683,128, compared with 342,420 bushels and a value of $417,752 in 1881-82.

The business in naval stores also shows a considerable increase, the receipts of rosin, which constitutes the main commodity under this head, having aggregated 63,417 barrels, in comparison with 47,615 in 1881-82, and the entire receipts of all kinds of naval stores having reached 79,780 barrels, with an approximate value of $420,684, compared with 61,427, and a value of $369,688 in 1881-82.

This brief summary of the leading articles of the city's business would not be complete, without an allusion to some departments of business, which can be measured only by the aggregate value of the merchandise which has changed hands. Thus, in dry goods, the aggregate sales in 1882-83 reached, approximately, $27,381,258, in comparison with $25,327,234 in 1881-82 and $24,203,101 in 1880-81; and of clothing $18,024,101 in 1882-83, compared with $17,099,434 in 1881-82 and $17,605,133 in 1880-81. There have been large sales of fur goods, also of oriental carpets, rugs, hangings, porcelains, bronzes, carvings, lacquered ware and fancy goods generally, with fair sales of pictures, though in the last named the business of the year has not equaled the previous one, either in aggregate value or the number of works which have been disposed of. A noticeable growth in the sales of pottery, both domestic and foreign, is seen. Favorable progress is observable in the production and sale of goods of our own city's manufacture, which each year are occupying a more important position in the trade of the city. The growth in the business in vegetables, to which allusion was specially made in 1881-82, has been singularly marked in the past year, and, with the large facilities growing out of the completion of the Southern Railway to New Orleans, and the development of the system of railways throughout Mexico, by which the way is eventually to be opened to the fruits and vegetables of the tropical regions, much more important results of this nature will follow. Then, in the enumeration, should also be embraced hats and caps, boots and shoes, furniture, carriages, buggies, oils, saddlery, harness, railroad supplies, burial cases and caskets, brushes and wire goods, steam engines, boilers, hardware, drugs, chemicals, medicines, wood-working machinery, books, paper, jewelry, silver ware, musical instruments, mouldings, picture frames, paints and varnishes, wooden ware, candies, bread, crackers, and many other articles which can only be measured by a money standard.

Our commerce with foreign countries shows a steady increase each year. According to the report of Col. D. W. McClung, Surveyor of the Port of Cincinnati, the total value of goods imported under the act of 1870, for direct importation, in the fiscal year of 1882-83, was $1,822,424, compared with $1,549,101 in 1881-82 and $1,262,666 in 1880-81, showing an increase in 1882-83, over 1881-82, of $273,323, and an increase in two years of $559,758. The importations under the old law, or through other ports, show a reduction, the aggregate having been $218,951, compared with $314,953 in 1881-82, and $234,596 in 1880-81, showing a decrease in the past year, compared with 1881-82, of $96,002. The duties on goods imported direct in 1882-83 were $732,765.20, compared with $608,792.19 in 1881-82, and under the old law $116,190.85, compared with $123,895.22. The total importation under both laws, in 1882-83, aggregated $2,041,375, with duties amounting to $848,956.05, compared with $1,864,054 and duties of $732,687.41, an increase in imports of $177,321 and in duties of $116,268.64. The largest importations in 1882-83 were in manufactures from wool, which aggregated in value $396,469, showing an increase over the previous year of $154,306. The next in the order of value were manufactures from cotton, $340,758, showing a decrease of $1,071, and from flax, $176,969, a decrease of $40,132. The importations of jewelry and precious stones were $92,113, an increase of $36,341; glycerine, $105,387, an increase of $5,383; china, earthenware, etc., $93,812, an increase of $14,073; manufactures from silk, $77,699, a decrease of $14,029; musical instruments, $67,005, a decrease of $11,184; wines, $64,867, an increase of $25,063; fancy goods, $57,302, a decrease of $21,106; steel in sheets, bars, etc., $51,213, a decrease of $22,844. These are all the articles exceeding in aggregate value, $50,000. Chemicals, fruit juice, window glass, manufactures from glass, cutlery, files, manufactures from iron and steel, other than in sheets and bars, paintings and statuary, paper, snuff, leaf tobacco, cigars, clocks, watches, etc., tin plate, manufactures from wood, and spirits, all show an increase, which in some cases has been marked. In books and engravings, plate glass, fire-arms, skins and manufactures of leather, beer, scrap iron, and barley, there was a reduction, the loss having been most noticeable in barley, the aggregate importations of which, in 1882-83, were $1,922, compared with $91,319, in 1881-82; plate glass, which aggregated $2,363, compared with $12,793, and in fire-arms, the importations of which were $19,695, in comparison with $32,164.

While, with changing prices, the aggregate value of commodities moving at a great center may not be the exact measure of the relation of the business of the different years to each other, still, the securing of such a result is the only practicable way of so focalizing all the diversified agencies entering into a year's work in industry and trade, as to enable one to see at a glance about what the whole business of the locality means in a given period, and to institute ready comparisons. The results of this nature in the past year present some interesting aspects. With the tremendous decline in some commodities, and a greater or less shrinkage in nearly all products, the agitation attending the changes in internal tax and tariff laws, and with a business more or less impaired by the doubt, if not apprehension, which settled down upon the business mind in the later months of the period, a reduction in the aggregate value of the business of the year was to be expected. The figures show, however, that this reduction was small, compared with the powerful agencies which were at work to secure such a result, and that there was about the change some elements of compensation, which are singularly expressive of healthfulness, and which show the value at times of the intervention of conservative policies. Thus, the value of all commodities received, in the past year, aggregate, approximately, $284,239,878, in comparison with $295,605,258 in 1881-82, exhibiting a reduction of $11,365,380, while the value of commodities shipped from the city were $290,907,330, compared with $294,719,798, showing a reduction of $3,812,468, indicating not only that more product in value was shipped from the city, in various forms, raw and otherwise, than came into it, but that in addition the reduction in the aggregate value of the outward movement was much less than that of the inward, thus showing larger results, at least apparently, in a given amount of raw materials, than was witnessed in the previous year. This aspect of the figures may mean retrenchment, but it also reveals the operation of economical methods, which are specially useful in times of depression. The aggregate value, in 1882-83, of the receipts of commodities that are classified under specific heads, was $188,364,878, in comparison with $198,279,258 in the preceding year, and of the shipments of the same class, $187,421,330, compared with $191,788,798, showing a reduction in the former of $9,914,380, and in the latter of $4,367,468. The receipts of articles having no specific place in the movement of commodities, measured by physical results, such as dry goods, carpets, clothing, furs, silks and millinery goods, hats and caps, books, paper, silver ware and jewelry, drugs, musical instruments, and a wide range of products, manufactured and raw, which enter into the business and life of a great city, aggregated in value, approximately, $95,875,000, in comparison with $97,326,000 in 1881-82, and the shipments $103,488,000, compared with $102,931,000.

The aggregate value of the products of our manufacturing industry, the number of hands employed, the value of real estate occupied, the cash capital invested, and the number of establishments engaged in Cincinnati, for each year in which statistics have been compiled touching these particulars, will be found in the following table:

| Year. | Number of establishments. | Cash capital invested. | Value of real estate occupied. | Number of hands employed. | Value of production. |

The following table shows the whole number of steamboats (including tow-boats) which ran between this and other ports, each of the last thirty-three years, with the tonnage of the same:

*In order to have the figures conform to those of the Government, the figures were revised in 1881-82, so as to embrace the Government measurement instead of the underwriters', from the year 1868-69, which was as far back as the revision could go with the means then at hand.

The following table shows the whole number, with the tonnage, of steamboats and barges built at this port, for each of the last thirty-six years.

ERRATA.

On page 309 the vote of Simon P. Wolcott, for State Senator, in Ashtabula county, should be 6,191, instead of 2,191. A corresponding increase should be given to his total vote and his majority, making the latter 7,915.

On page 202, to brochure cover paper issued, should be added 156 sheets, cost, $1.36. Used for sample purposes.

On page 203, to flat-cap paper issued, should be added "a transfer from flat-letter" account, seven reams and 460 sheets, valued at $14.69.
